Fire Does $100,000 Damage At Barstow

LOCOMOTIVES HELP FIGHT FLAMES ON DESERT

Number of Business Houses Burn as Fire Sweeps Through Town

BULLETIN
BARSTOW, Cal., July 9.—Shortly after noon today the fire that had been sweeping Barstow all morning was brought under control. It is estimated the damage will exceed $100,000.

BARSTOW, Cal., July 9.—Sweeping with relentless fury across the city, a savage fire gutted nine structures here early today, and is threatening destruction to the entire business section. Early damage was estimated at $100,000, and this total is expected to be greatly increased when a final check is made of the damage.

Switch engines of the Santa Fe railroad were pressed into service by the fire fighters, and added a spectacular touch to the fire fighting scene by pumping water on the flames. Practically every man in the city was pressed into service, and helped fight the flames, which leaped from building to building.

Cordon of Safety
After several hours' fighting a cordon of safety was believed to have been thrown about the burning area, but the flames were still leaping high into the air and threatening other structures. The fire is thought to have started in a lunch room.

Immediately after the fire was discovered in Crow's lunch room, the flames spread to and consumed Friends, Ray's and Gilman's grocery stores as well as George Yick cafe and the Tourist restaurant. Barstow's electric shop and the vulcanizing shop took fire and the Elk's hall was soon in flames.

Liquor Pirates Take 500 Cases in Raid

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Hi-jackers boarded a "hoose ship" believed to be the "gunner" off the coast of San Luis Obispo, and after battling with the crew, seized 500 cases of bonded liquor from Vancouver, B. C., and made their escape. It was revealed today by Los Angeles prohibition agents, who returned here after an unsuccessful attempt to raid the liquor smugglers.

If there were any casualties in the sea battle, it was kept secret by the commander of the liquor ship, who does not wish to become entangled with the authorities in the matter.

Clarence Blazier, Al Lloyd, A. Mackay and Captain Larry Talbot, the latter at one time master of the liquor ship "Borealis," and under indictment in the Long Beach liquor case, were taken into custody temporarily, but later released by the prohibition agents.

SEEK ASSAILANTS

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Armed with the name of the man alleged to have entered Mrs. Clyde Stout's apartment in Maple street, beat and robbed her; and with the description of two men driving a large automobile who seized Mrs. C. B. Crane, 40, and attempted to assault her, the police today hunted the perpetrators of Los Angeles' latest attacks. Mrs. Stout is 22 years old.

Search For 'Other Woman' Behind Murder And Suicide

FULLERTON, Cal., July 9.—An inquest over the bodies of Charles L. Thompson, local contractor, who was slain by his wife, Ada Thompson, Friday night, and the wife, who committed suicide yesterday at the Orange county hospital, was to be held here today.

The inquest is expected to resolve itself into a conference on the bodies, as Mrs. Thompson's death relieved Orange county authorities of criminal activity in the case.

House Set On Fire In Plot To Burn Man

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—The bedroom of Fred A. Dato, brother-in-law of Esteban Cantu, former governor of Lower California, was saturated with gasoline and set afire today in an apparent attempt to burn him to death, according to the police.

However, Dato was absent from the city and escaped injury. The lives of his wife and a cousin, Miss Carmelita Vasquez, were saved when the blaze died out from lack of air. Loss from the fire was estimated at $10,000. Dato is said to have received several threatening letters from his political enemies, according to the police.

BUSINESS WOMEN IN ANNUAL MEET

Delegates to Portland Are Greeted by Mayor; Borah To Make Address

PORTLAND, Ore., July 9.—The fifth annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs convened here today with approximately 1,500 delegates present from all over the country.

Mayor Baker welcomed the delegates to Portland and presented a floral key of the city to Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, national president of Detroit. Registration of delegates and appointment of committees occupied the morning. Interest this afternoon centered in the annual address of the president and the reports of national officers.

The convention is expected to go on record for the establishment of a high school education as the minimum requirement for the young woman entering business.

United States Senator William Borah of Idaho will be the principal speaker at a public meeting Wednesday night. Carrie Jacobs-Bond, the composer, will speak Thursday. The convention will continue throughout the week.

WILL TELL PLAN ON REPARATIONS

British Premier Will Bring German Negotiations to Definite Basis

LONDON, July 9.—Premier Stanley Baldwin announced in the house of commons this afternoon that it was possible the government would make known its reparations policy Thursday.

The announcement foreshadowed the decision of the premier to bring the negotiations to a head and was interpreted as meaning England will go her own way in dealing with Germany.

FIRE LOSS $10,000

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Starting from a red-hot stove in the rear of a store at 1067 Temple street, fire early today rapidly swept to two adjoining buildings, drove the occupants of a rooming house into the street and did damage estimated at $10,000.

Thompson was shot and killed Friday night when he grappled with his wife to take away a revolver with which she tried to take her own life. Apparently crazed by the sight of blood when her husband had been struck by one bullet, Mrs. Thompson was said to have fired two more shots into her husband's prostrate body causing death several hours later.

The opportunity to prosecute Mrs. Thompson for her husband's death, authorities today took steps to seek "the other woman" who is said to be behind the two tragedies.

DROWNED IN BIG STORM ON LAKE

Ballooning Lashes Self to Basket; Companion Is Believed Lost

BULLETIN

PORT STANLEY, Ont., July 9.—"It's all bunk," Mrs. Jack Le-march, wife of the chief of police at Leamington, Ont., told the International News Service this afternoon when asked about a report that the body of Lieut. T. R. Null, missing naval balloonist, had been found there.

"If a message was sent from here stating the body had been recovered, it is a mistake."

PORT STANLEY, Ontario, July 9.—Clad only in underwear, the drowned body of Lieutenant Louis J. Roth was found by a fishing tug in Lake Erie fourteen miles south of here today, lashed to the basket of the naval balloon A-698 wrecked Thursday night in a terrific storm.

No trace of the body of Lieutenant T. B. Null, Lieutenant Roth's aide, has been found, but the discovery of Lieutenant Roth's body is a certain indication that Null also perished.

With a naval life preserver about his waist and stripped to his union suit, Lieutenant Roth's body was found tied by balloon rope to the almost submerged basket, which it is believed was cut loose from the bag.

Soft Drinks In Great Demand, Figures Show

SACRAMENTO, July 9.—Enter now the "soda pop spree," alternating for the alcoholic spree of the pre-Volstead days.

Announcing the soft drink epidemic, the State Board of Health makes the following illuminating comparison:

"If the soft drinks consumed in America during 1922 had been available to Methuselah at the beginning of his alleged 960 years, he would have had eight bottles of soda pop to dispose of every minute of his mortal span."

Four billion bottles of soft drinks were consumed in the United States last year, the health officers aver. These figures do not include beverages such as near beer.

FRANCE RATIFIES PACIFIC TREATY

Step Toward World Peace Is Seen in Deputies' Action By French Statesmen

PARIS, July 9.—The French chamber of deputies, which on Saturday ratified the five power naval treaty, today unanimously ratified the Pacific naval treaty reached at the Washington disarmament conference.

Socialist deputies declared France would not benefit from the treaty because its provisions did not include Indo-China.

They explained they voted for the treaty because it would break up the Anglo-Japanese alliance and "marked a step toward world peace."

With Germany, Russia
TOKIO, July 9.—Japan refused a closer alliance with the United States and Great Britain will continue negotiations with Russia and Germany.

This represents the opinion of one section of the Japanese public following the announcement in Tokyo of the French ratification of the Washington conference treaties which admittedly will end all talk of a triple alliance of Japan, the United States and Great Britain.

Many well informed persons advised the belief that the proposal for the triple alliance was made to Washington and London merely to precede the work strongly believed to be going on toward a Russo-Japanese-Germanic alliance.

The foreign office remains silent on the subject but the Japanese press today devoted considerable space to the French move in ratifying the Washington treaties suddenly after long delay.

HARDING HAS TO HEAR OF TROUBLES

Problems of Alaska Pour Into President's Ears At Every Stop

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

ABOARD U. S. S. HENDERSON WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, WRANGELL, ALASKA, July 9.—(Via Naval Radio).—Alaska is losing no time in pouring her troubles into President Harding's lap.

They have grievances of long standing here and they are taking advantage of the first crack they have ever had at high government officials to unload them.

But twenty-four hours inside Alaskan waters, President Harding already has been the recipient of a wide range of Alaskan problems of which transportation appears to be the chief. The contents are not confined alone to the white population seeking the development of the territory, but includes the natives.

Tell Their Troubles

Within an hour after the president set foot on Alaskan soil at Metlakatla on Annette Island in the extreme south of the territory, George Davis, headman of the Tsimshian tribe, pathetically laid before the president their troubles saying the cannibers were looting the waters of fish—virtually the sole food upon which his people have always lived. Davis talked in broken English, but most expressively.

President Harding was touched by the appeal but replied: "There can be no return to primitive conditions because that is against God's law and the best interests of human society."

He assured the Indians that the government will find a way to solve their difficulties and said that is why we came. Governor Bone joined the Henderson at Metlakatla, piloting President Harding through the territory.

Wedding Anniversary

Introducing the president to a Ketchikan audience, Governor Bone voiced the general discontent, saying: "Alaska is an unknown, unappreciated and misunderstood land."

The statement was loudly cheered, leaving Ketchikan late Sunday the Henderson bore northward during the night, arriving off Wrangell this morning for a short stop. From Wrangell the presidential party will proceed on board the Henderson to Juneau arriving tomorrow.

Sunday was President Harding's thirty-second wedding anniversary, the occasion being celebrated by being the first president ever to step on Alaskan soil.

Democratic Chieftains Plan Convention Control

Party Leaders Confer Over Probable Candidates in Presidential Contest

By GEORGE M. HEIL

An "entente cordiale" which may wield the balance of power in the next Democratic national convention is believed in the making as a result of an almost continuous series of political powwows now being held at French Lick, Ind.

Of course no formal statements have been issued for the enlightenment of the public. They wouldn't be considered good form at this stage of the game in the best political circles.

But nevertheless the veteran strategists, sometimes termed "bosses," wise in the ways of things political now are busily engaged in building fences to hold a balance of power which can be a basis on the Democratic convention at the moment deemed psychological.

The two-thirds rule which governs Democratic conventions makes it possible for any combination that can sew up 366 votes based on the representation of 1920—to deadlock the convention. Shrewd political observers believe that the alignment process to insure the necessary 366 last ditch delegates is under way, but the exact shape of the alignment isn't apparent at this stage.

Some reports have it that Tammany Charlie Murphy, represented at French Lick by Governor Al Smith of New York, looks with favor on a political alliance with Senator Oscar Underwood. This would unite the delegates of the solid south and the thirty east into a solid bloc, nearly 500 strong, which could effectually halt the convention in its tracks.

While the south is reckoned as dry, it is pointed out that Tammany made a bid for southern support when Smith signed the enforcement repealer and accompanied his signature with an exhaustive argument in favor of state's rights, an issue dear to the heart of every southerner.

Tammany is said to be convinced that as between the old state's rights proposition and prohibition the south would forego the latter to resurrect the issue.

FORMER SUPREME JUSTICE PASSES

Judge William R. Day Yields To Chronic Illness at Michigan Home

CLEVELAND, July 9.—Former Justice William R. Day of the United States supreme court died at his summer home at Mackinaw island, Michigan, at 5 o'clock this morning, according to word received by his son, former Judge William L. Day here.

Death was caused by chronic bronchitis. Justice Day was 74 years of age. Funeral services will be held at his former home at Canton, Ohio, Thursday.

Justice Day recently resigned as umpire of the mixed claims commission, settling claims growing out of the war between the United States and Germany.

Prior to his appointment to the supreme bench by President McKinley, he had served as assistant secretary of state, and chief of the commission, which negotiated the treaty of peace with Spain following the war of 1898.

LONE FLYER ATTEMPTING TO BRIDGE CONTINENT IN ONE DAY

Hops Off at Mineola, N. Y., On Fast Air Journey To San Francisco

BULLETIN

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 9.—The first attempt to fly across the United States between dawn and dark ended in a failure here today when Lieut. Russell Maughan was forced down nine miles north-east of here with a broken landing gear.

The aviator announced he would abandon the attempt and return to the east to make another try later. Lieutenant Maughan was brought here following the accident.

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 9.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, of the United States air service, hopped off at 4:55 o'clock (eastern time) this morning on his dawn to dusk trans-continental flight from Mitchell field to Crissy field, Presidio, San Francisco.

Lieutenant Maughan hopes to bridge the 2570 mile air distance in twenty-four hours of daylight, he will have as a result of flying with the sun. He is using a Curtiss pursuit plane which tested to average more than 160 miles an hour. He is flying alone.

Weather conditions were favorable when Lieutenant Maughan started. He had waited two days for the right kind of weather. He will make four thirty minute stops en route for gasoline and oil.

The first leg of the trip from Mitchell field to Dayton, Ohio, approximates 570 miles. From there he will hop a similar distance to St. Joseph, Mo., thence 540 miles to Cheyenne, Wyo., 470 miles to Salt Lake, Utah, and finally 420 miles to Crissy field.

The take-off was without ceremony, only a handful of Mitchell field officers were present. Lieutenant Oakley G. Kelly, who with Lieutenant James Macready, holds the coast to coast non-stop record acted as "starter."

McCook's field, DAYTON, Ohio, July 9.—Lieutenant R. L. Maughan arrived here at 9 a. m. daylight saving time, and departed at 9:32 o'clock, confident he would reach San Francisco in time for supper.

Maughan, starting from New York at 4:55, encountered a fog bank and got off his course, which delayed arrival here.

Both flier and ship were in fine condition. Gasoline and benzol were taken aboard here, and the ship was off on the second lap of its coast-to-coast flight.

St. Joseph, Mo., was the next port of call. "I'll phone you from 'Frisco about 9 o'clock," was Lieutenant Maughan's parting promise to Major Weaver.

A mechanic is stationed at each of the four fields where Lieutenant Maughan is scheduled to stop for fuel and adjustment of his plane.

Makes Fast Time
INDIANAPOLIS, July 9.—Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan of the United States air service passed over Indianapolis at 9:15 o'clock (central standard) in his dawn-to-dusk coast-to-coast flight. He negotiated the 111 miles from Dayton to Indianapolis in 42 minutes.

MATTOON, Ill., July 9.—Lieutenant Maughan passed over Mattoon at 10:05 a. m., central standard time, making the distance from Indianapolis to Mattoon, 128 miles, in 50 minutes, or at an average of more than 160 miles an hour.

Pass Death Sentence On Man and Woman
CHICAGO, July 9.—Mrs. Sabella Nitti Crudelle, and her husband, Peter Crudelle, this afternoon were found guilty by a jury here of the murder of the woman's first husband, Frank Nitti, and were sentenced to hang.

Charles Nitti, a son, jointly tried with them, was acquitted.

Workman Dying After Iron Breaks on Head
SEATTLE, July 9.—His skull crushed by a heavy piece of structural iron, which broke clean in two when it struck him, after a fall of thirteen stories, George Hawksworth, 40, a laborer of Vancouver, B. C., was dying in Providence hospital here this morning. The accident occurred at the new Dexter Horton bank building, under construction.

Brotherhood Chiefs Plan Big Wage Boost
CHICAGO, July 9.—General chairman, representing railway conductors and railway trainmen of the western association, went into session behind closed doors here today, taking what was believed to be the first step in a national drive for wage increases ranging from 20 to 50 per cent.

Social Events

Relatives Guests
There are a whole company of relatives enjoying a summer reunion at the home of Mrs. Pearl
G. Curran at 560 Riverdale drive.
Assisting in entertaining them is Mrs. Curran's mother, Mrs. Priscilla Linkugel.

Mrs. Curran's sister, Mrs. E. E.
Gossrau arrived over a week ago from Chicago, where she went with Miss Hazel Linkugel. Last week Mrs. Gossrau arrived from their home in Galveston,
Texas, for a two weeks' visit.

Joining this family group Mr.
and Mrs. P. Koppen and Mr. Kop-pen's father, P. Koppen, arrived Sunday morning from San Francisco. Mrs. Koppen is another sister of Mrs. Curran.

In addition to these guests Mrs.
Curran had at dinner Sunday Mr.
and Mrs. Charles Bowen.

After dinner Mrs. Curran and daughter Gloria, Mrs. Linkugel and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Linkugel and daughter Eileen and their guests took four machines and motored through Los Angeles to Santa Ana.

Tonight they will all attend the "Covered Wagon" at Hollywood.

Mother's Birthday
Mrs. Helen A. Hanscom, mother of Mrs. C. M. Calderwood, was happily honored Saturday on the occasion of her birthday when a group of neighbor women were invited to the Calderwood home at 370 Salem street for an informal birthday party.

A yellow color scheme was used by Mrs. Calderwood in decorating her home. Yellow flowers, favors, and candles were used on the luncheon table and a sunshiny birthday cake was placed before
Mrs. Hanscom's place.

Guests were Mesdames Albert
Fisher, L. Newton Smith, Ella P.
Brown, Fred Brown, Myron Car-mon, Sturdevant, Carmon and Bryon Moore, and Misses Catharine Fisher and Maude Holloway.
Mrs. Sturdevant is from Massachusetts and is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Brown, while Mrs. Myron Carmon is entertaining a relative, Mrs. Carmon from Long Island.

Class Will Meet
The members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church of which Miss Lois Percy is president, will hold their regular monthly business meeting tomorrow night, July 10, at 7 o'clock, at the home of Miss Mabel Cunningham, 655 West 30th street, Los Angeles.

All those having no way of going will meet at the church at 6:15 o'clock and machines will be provided for them. Those taking the street cars are to get off at West of Figueroa.

A cafeteria supper will be served which will be followed by the business meeting. At this time the nominating committee will give their report and the election of officers will take place. All members are urged to be present.

Give Card Party
The first of a series of summer card parties given last Friday afternoon at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse by the Non-Section women of the club, led by Mrs.
T. G. Widmeyer, was a great success, and those taking part are anticipating the second affair tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. John McKay, of 317 El Bonita, returned the latter part of the week from Belvedere Gardens, where she has been staying with her son, Robert McKay, since the illness of Mr. McKay, who is in a hospital in Los Angeles. Mrs.
McKay reports Mr. McKay's condition somewhat improved, but he is not able to leave the hospital yet.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Levell and Walter Gorman of 1143 North Louise street are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house guest, Mrs. W. Penn of Canada. Mrs. Penn is delighted with Glendale and may decide to make her permanent home here after a few days' visit.

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton of 801 East Wilson avenue spent Sunday at Cucamonga, where Rev. Norton preached at the little cobblestone church on Archibald avenue. The church was built during his ministry there three-teen years ago. Accompanying the Nortons were their son Cecil Norton and wife, and Samuel Jamison.

Mrs. Norton was taken ill while visiting at friends Sunday afternoon and was unable to return home. She is to return home today if sufficiently improved.

FOOTHILL SECTION
Matters of importance to the foothill section of the city are to be discussed tomorrow night at the meeting of the Foothill Improvement Association at the Grandview school.

Alexander Mitchell, president, will be in charge of the meeting
beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

MINOR OPERATION
A minor operation was performed upon Mrs. B. Wallace of 124 Boynton street this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

HARNESS RIVERS
Two rivers in Czechoslovakia will be harnessed to supply the province of Moravia with electric power.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Attorney John A. Coleman, recently of the Los Angeles Bar, announces the opening of his offices for the general practice of law at Suite 1 Central Building, 111 E.
Broadway, Glendale. Advertis-
ment 7-9-10-11-12-13-14-16.

Camping Outing
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Newton and sons, Russell and Albert of 521
North Jackson street just returned to their home last Saturday evening after spending an enjoyable two weeks' motor camping trip to Arrowhead Lake and Redondo Beach.

They spent ten days at Arrowhead Lake, enjoying fishing and other pleasures a camping trip affords; and on the evening of the fourth they left for the Grand Canyon where they intended to spend several days, but while enroute there the heat on the desert became so unbearable they turned back and spent the weekend at Redondo Beach.

Mr. Newton is owner of the J.
A. Newton Electric company.

Reside In North
The marriage of Miss Margaret Gladys Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Black of 515 West Burbank street, to Elmer D. Elledge of Fall River Mills, California, took place Friday night, July 6, 1923, at the C. R. Norton home at 801 East Wilson avenue.

Rev. Norton performed the single ring wedding ceremony at 7 o'clock before the bride's parents and a small group of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Elledge left later in the evening for Los Angeles harbor, where they took a boat north. They will reside at Fall River Mills, where Mr. Elledge is engaged in the banking business.

Give Garden Party
The Epworth League of the First Methodist church is entertaining with a garden party Friday evening, July 13, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Henry I. Rasmus,
Jr., 315 North Jackson street.

An interesting evening's program is being arranged for by the entertainment committee, of which Cecil Percy is chairman.
Games and a general good time will be enjoyed. A cordial invitation is extended to all members and their friends.

Meeting and Tea
Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, is to be hostess tomorrow at a meeting of the executive board, followed by an informal tea for all board members and all who have been assisting in the membership drive of the club.

The affair will take place at the Jones' home at 727 Kenneth road, and the board meeting will precede the tea at 3 o'clock.

Spanish Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. James Wyrell of 1215 North Brand boulevard were host and hostess Thursday evening during a Spanish dinner at the Casa Verdugo cafe. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kase of 321 North Wilson street and Mrs. Ada Palmer of Los Angeles.

Kensington Club
Mrs. Anna Page, president of the Kensington club, announces a meeting for Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the G. A. R. all.
All women are asked to come prepared for sewing.

DEATHS--FUNERALS

CARLETON EUGENE WINDSOR
Carleton Eugene Windsor, son

Young Filipinos Not Eager for Self Rule

YORKVILLE, Ohio, July 9.—
The younger generation of Filipinos—those who have had the advantage of training in American schools—are not urging independence for the Philippines, according to Emilio A. Alba, Jr., son of a Manila sugar plantation owner. Young Alba, a student in Chicago, is working at a local tin plate plant for a "practical education."

Although the elder Filipinos want their own government, the younger Filipinos, Alba said, fear that Japan might seize the islands if the United States relinquishes control. The younger Filipinos, he stated, also realize the progress made under American control.

HELPS DEDICATE
CAMP FIREPLACEGlendale Girl Takes Leading Part in Ceremony at Mountain Resort

Blossom Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Moore of 360 West California avenue, took a prominent part recently in the dedication of a novel open air fireplace at Camp Potter in Big Bear valley. Mrs. Moore and her daughter are summering at the camp.

Upon the dedication Blossom lighted the first log fire in the fireplace. This was followed by appropriate speeches, music, entertaining campfire games and singing. One of the features was reading interesting papers and pictures in the walls of the fireplace. An air-tight glass jar containing paper bearing the signatures of those present.

More than forty tons of stone were used in constructing the fireplace, which is beautifully designed and faced with selected old Mountain rock.

Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Potter, owners and managers of the camp are Glendaleans.

PARTY LEADERS
IN CONFERENCEDemocratic Chieftains Plan
For Convention Control
At Informal Meet

Of course the entrance of Henry Ford into the political lists would serve to weaken Underwood's hold on the southern delegates.

Suggested Lineup

But, without the defection that Ford's candidacy would cause, sponsors of the Tammany-Underwood alliance believe the lineup would be something like this:

| | |
|----------------|----|
| Alabama | 24 |
| Arkansas | 18 |
| Connecticut | 14 |
| Delaware | 6 |
| Florida | 12 |
| Georgia | 28 |
| Kentucky | 26 |
| Louisiana | 20 |
| Maryland | 16 |
| Massachusetts | 36 |
| Mississippi | 22 |
| New Jersey | 28 |
| New York | 20 |
| North Carolina | 14 |
| Rhode Island | 10 |
| South Carolina | 18 |
| Tennessee | 24 |
| Texas | 40 |
| Virginia | 24 |
| West Virginia | 16 |

Total 484

Should this "entente" fall by the wayside there is another. This would bring together three of the shrewdest political leaders in the Democratic ranks, Tom Taggart of Indiana, George Brennan of Illinois and Murphy, and probably Underwood.

This trio probably could swing the convention if it became necessary to trot out a convention dark horse.

Smith, Underwood and William G. McAdoo, it is believed in well informed circles, will deadlock the convention. Then the Underwood delegates could be shifted to Smith or vice versa, according to the pre-arranged plans of the entente strategists.

In this event that this maneuver fails to break the deadlock, Taggart, who to all appearances is playing shrewd politics with the candidacy of Senator Samuel M. Ralston, may offer the Hoosier solon as a dark horse.

This Way Out

Then, according to the usual procedure, when it became apparent that neither Smith nor Underwood could be put over the united support of the Taggart-Brennan-Murphy-Underwood combine should be sufficient to put Ralston over.

Political observers profess to see in Taggart's recent disclaimer of the candidacy of Ralston a back-handed confirmation of this line of strategy.

Seasoned politicians know that a premature boom is the surest way of killing off a presidential possibility and they believe that it is Taggart's aim to keep Ralston out of the limelight as much as possible.

His candidacy may never be announced. His name may be merely presented before the convention at the psychological moment. And Ralston's friends believe he will capture the nomination as did Harding in the Republican convention of 1920.

Sisler Will Be Back
In Brown's Line-up

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—George Sisler, star first baseman of the Browns, will resume his place in the regular line-up of the St. Louis American League baseball club within a month or so, according to friends of the player here today. These friends also asserted Sisler probably will be offered the managership of the club, although he has at least once declined that position.

Sisler has not been in the Browns' line-up since last fall, when he suddenly retired, due to illness, which never was completely explained by club officials.

The only affliction Sisler has suffered, it now is known, was an infection of the sinus cavities in the head. The infection was so bad and the effect on muscles so great that Sisler suffered from double vision. An operation once decided upon was abandoned by the star himself, who believed he would be able to overcome his trouble through ordinary treatment.

COMMENT
That's AllPlague Spreads in Russia.
Working Conditions Court.
Anonymous Letter Writers.
Business Is Always Good.
By Gil A. Cowan

MALARIAL plague is spreading through Russia, more than 15,000,000 cases having been reported this year, according to dispatches from Moscow. Industry has been seriously crippled in the cities as a result of the epidemic and the country today faces depopulation.

It is the wonder of the ages that other plagues have not occurred in the communistic realm of Lenin, it being history that so-called "capitalistic" forms of government care for the human race better than it will care for itself.

In this country of democratic tendencies we find man-value underestimated. A pitifully small amount of money is expended in public health while ten times the sum is spent for stock breeding, fish and game culture and agricultural development.

Bounties are placed on predatory animals, yet it takes the Rockefeller Foundation to place a bounty on predaceous germs. The government had to spend millions making an army physically fit, yet it depends for a large part on privately endowed colleges to furnish men for leadership.

What "a grand and glorious feeling" Glendaleans must have when they read about this city ranking fifth among cities of the southwest in building during the first six months of 1923.

Of course, Los Angeles with its 750,000 population should lead the list, and Long Beach with 110,000 ought to come second. San Diego and Pasadena with 80,000 people more or less ought to outdo Glendale with only 40,000.

But the recapitulation, which shows a total of $158,985,092 in new construction work this year as compared with $97,447,954 during the same period last year in the southwest, indicates the prosperity of this section. President Harding will do well to note that Southern California is the whitest spot in the nation today.

Frankly stated, working conditions in Southern California are more favorable than elsewhere. Admittedly extortionate wage scales are not paid here, yet that very fact creates additional employment for thousands and thousands of newcomers who want to get away from the eastern centers where half of an artisan's time is wasted by strikes, lockouts, idleness, sickness or injury. Here one can work the year round with only five days sickness, as an average, no ice to slip upon, no heat prostrations, no boycotts of material and no radical agitators to breed trouble.

Everyone is too glad to be working, employers are too glad to have labor satisfied to permit anything but ideal conditions to exist. Which is a little bit different than San Francisco, Chicago, New York or other eastern centers.

The anonymous letter writer and the person who refuses to give his or her name over the telephone are the queerest customers in the world with whom real men and women have to deal.

In the first place, there should be a law making it a misdemeanor for a person to send any communication through the mail unsigned in person, or fraudulently signed. Any letter containing threats of physical injury to either person or property should be sufficient for conviction on a felony charge. And the telephone companies should be forced to divulge the number from which anonymous phone calls are received.

It is the belief of the writer that discretion, rather than secretiveness, is to be desired. A person need not tell all that is to be told, yet he need not labor under the impression that even a fool will find them out if necessity presents the occasion.

Along this line we heard a good dinner story. A father advised his foolish son to say absolutely nothing while visiting. The boy followed instructions, and when he was asked questions by the host no response was forthcoming. "You must be a fool," was the comment, for it was evident the boy heard what was being said. And the youngster went running to his father, saying:

"They have found me out."

Wonderful how many fools are revealed by saying nothing.

Likewise, how many expose their ignorance by saying too much!

The Glendale Evening News business for the first six months of 1923 saw new records made in all departments.

In circulation, advertising, news and job printing The Glendale Evening News is an established leader.

It distributes more papers to bona fide subscribers in Glendale and vicinity than any other publication. And this is done daily, not once a week!

Consistently The Glendale Evening News has carried the great bulk of the classified and display advertising of the community.

From a news standpoint this paper is recognized as the liveliest, most complete suburban daily in Southern California. Such opinion was expressed at the Southern California Editorial Association meeting recently by numerous publishers.

And in its job printing department The Glendale Evening News office boasts of doing quality work that merits title to leadership. Incidentally, this is the only office in Glendale equipped for larger jobs, such as magazines, books, banners, posters, etc.

Business is good, thank you!

WANT PHOTOS OF
LOCAL PROPERTYC. of C. Advertising Committee Asks Pictures to Use in Campaign

The members of the advertising committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce are renewing their request for photographs of industrial and business property in Glendale to be used in connection with the advertising campaign that is being mapped out and that will be ready to launch within the next few days.

It is essential, Chairman W. L. Twining points out, that these photographs be accompanied by details regarding their purchase price and the figures for which they have changed hands during the period between 1918 and 1920, together with the name and address of the owners, so that they may be returned after being used.

Visitors Coming

Every effort is being made to start this advertising campaign with the least possible delay, as the present season is witnessing an unprecedented influx of visitors from all sections of the United States to Southern California, and it is the intention of the committee to place before these visitors and other possible investors the advantages of Glendale and to show them what can be done here in the way of making profits from investments in real estate, as well as the advantages that await the homeseeker who chooses to cast his lot in Glendale.

Mr. Twining is certain, as are his associates on the committee that the expenditure of $7700 in newspaper advertising and $1500 in booklets, as authorized by the Chamber of Commerce, will have a marked effect in bringing to Glendale a notable influx of new residents and business men who will aid materially in swelling the prosperity of the city in every way.

PRICES ON HATSBushnell Millinery Shop to Sell New Creations at Big Reduction

It may be the solemn countenance of Abraham Lincoln or the stoical visage of the American Indian that will smile a copper-colored smile of self-satisfaction to-morrow, Wednesday and Thursday, when the modest American penny will come into its own at the Bushnell Millinery shop upstairs at 114 West Broadway.

And all because Glendale misses and women are going to have the opportunity of buying two smart hats for the price of one plus one penny. If mildy buys one $4 hat she can have two hats for $4.01 and so on up and down the scale of prices on the stock.

There will be all kinds and shapes of hats, trimmed straws, georgettes, crepe de chine and felt sport hats and there won't be any difference between the ones sold for dollars and those sold for cents.

Boy Scouts' Visitor
Praises Summer Camp

Fine reports from Camp Roy-Kent, the Boy Scouts camp at Lake Arrowhead, are brought to Glendale by Mrs. Eva Cunningham of 114 North Orange street, whose son Glenn is in camp with the Scouts.

Mrs. Cunningham returned home yesterday from several days at the camp and states that it is an ideal outing place for the boys and that the Glendale men instrumental in securing the camping site are to be highly complimented. The camp is three miles from the lake and in a fine location.

Harold Benner, local Scout executive, is in charge and is assisted by the various Scoutmasters. The Scouts planned to return home today.

FRANK BOOTH IS AWARDED PRIZE

Gets Recognition for His Criticism of Picture, 'Judgment of Storm'

A preview of "Judgment of the Storm," a picture by the Palmer Photoplay corporation, was given recently at the Glendale theatre, and those who viewed the picture were invited to write criticisms. Frank Booth, 111 South Kenwood, this city, has been awarded a cash prize for his effort, as the following letter shows:

"Dear Mr. Booth:—It gives us much pleasure to award you this little prize, and, in addition, we want to thank you for the interest you have shown in our picture, and in the progress of motion pictures in general, by competing. "Your suggestions have been helpful, and if you see 'Judgment of the Storm' again, you may be able to trace the effects of your criticism, with that of others, in the changes we have made. Again thanking you for your criticism. "Very sincerely yours, "JAY CHAPMAN, "Production Department "Palmer Photoplay Corporation."

Veterans' Bureau Asks Legionnaires to Visit

Chalmers Day of 119 West Broadway, commander of the local post of the American Legion, this morning received the following letter from R. J. Scudder of Los Angeles, secretary of the Veterans' Bureau:

"On Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4 p. m. the Los Angeles office of the United States Veterans' Bureau will hold open house and all members of your post are most cordially invited. We are now in our new quarters on the Fifth floor of the West Building, Fifty and San Pedro streets where we are better equipped than ever to take care of all disabled veterans."

"The Veterans' Bureau is your bureau and you should be familiar with the work that we are doing and particularly I want you to meet the members of the staff: Mrs. A. D. Borden, chief of administration division; Dr. E. L. Wemple, chief of medical division; A. G. Weidlich, chief of rehabilitation division and C. E. C. Burnett, chief of co-operation division."

FLORENCE, Italy, July 9. — A project to erect a monument here to commemorate the mothers of World War heroes is gaining momentum. Signor Mussolini's co-operation has been solicited in a nation-wide drive for the necessary funds.

FAST HORSES IN SYRACUSE RACES

Grand Circuit Meeting Will Make Trotting History, Is Prediction

By CHESTER B. BAHN For International News Service SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 9. — With 316 entries in already for the eleven early closing events for the state fair races September 10 to 15, Syracuse is assured the largest and greatest meeting in the history of the Grand Circuit races. The value of these events totals $42,000. Commissioner John H. Cahill, in charge of the races, has received the acceptance of many of the greatest drivers and trainers in the country, and the meetings here this year will eclipse records set by any of the old-line tracks. From a racing standpoint the big feature of the meeting will be the event for free-for-all trotters. Fourteen entries have been received for the event in which the blue bloods of the trotting world, horses with records of two minutes flat, may set a new mark. The big money event of the meeting will be the $10,000 Empire State race, for which 33 entries have been received. This event will be for 2:08 trotters. The largest number of entries received is for the three-year-old trot, in which 44 entries have been made. This event is for a $2000 stake. The two-year-old trot has 42 entries.

"Pop" Goes to Drive One of the big drawing cards of the meeting will be the appearance of Edward F. ("Pop") Geers, the grand old man of the sulky. "Pop" missed the Syracuse meeting last year owing to an accident earlier in the season, but he is back in the game again this year and, despite his advanced years, is the same great general as of old. He will drive his famous racer, Sanardo, who has a mark of 1:59 1/4 in an exhibition mile against time. He has also listed several other horses and will be in the sulky every day of the meeting. Geers is undoubtedly the best-known and most beloved man in the history of horse racing.

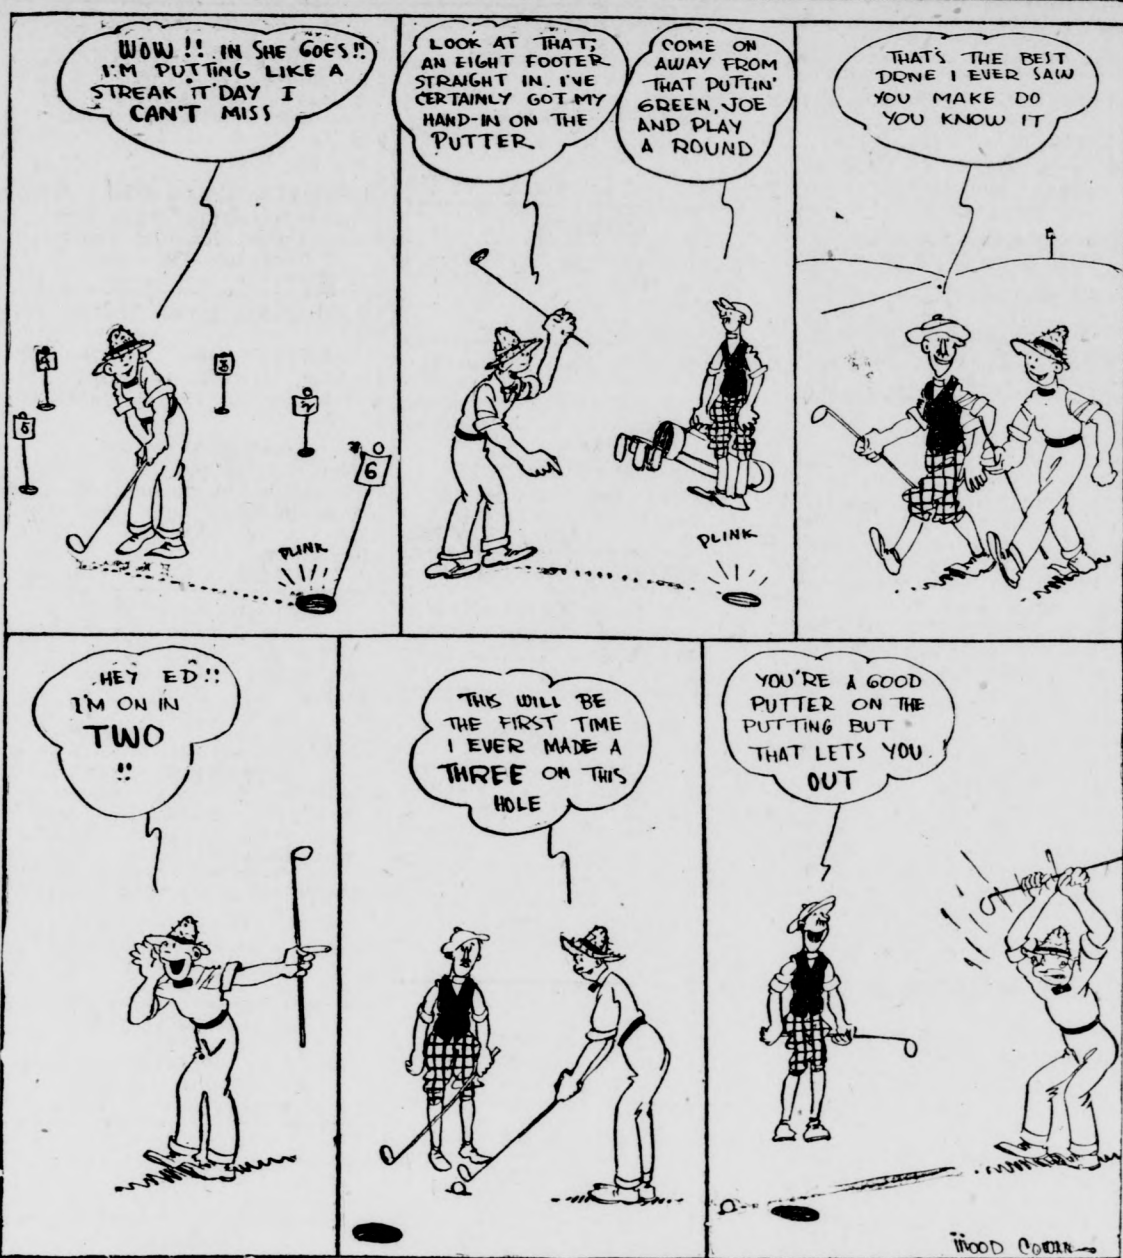

Commissioner Cahill announced today that twelve stables from the west, not represented here last year, will be in attendance at the races this year. Such well-known trainers as Dick McMahon, Libertyville, Ill., and Charles Valentine, Columbus, Ohio, who have never shown east of Cleveland heretofore, will be here this year.

STAR CRICKETER IS POORLY PAID

British Babe Ruth Receives Small Salary for Season's Play

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service LONDON, July 9. — England has its "Babe" Ruth in Jack Hobbs.

Hobbs, who is the star cricket batsman of England, has succeeded in rolling up a "century" of centuries. This sounds rather difficult and it is. In fact, it is so difficult a feat that it behooves one who is totally unacquainted with cricket not to attempt to explain it at all, but roughly it means that Hobbs has on one hundred occasions rolled up a score of more than a hundred runs without being bowled out.

Now Hobbs may be the counterpart of "Babe" Ruth so far as heavy hitting goes, but when it comes to compensation for his ability to swat, the Englishman is not one, two, three with the American.

Hobbs' total salary depends on the number of matches he plays. He is paid by the match and works on a piece-work basis. When he does exceptionally well he gets a bonus. Counting bonuses and salary for match plays, and the small retaining fee paid during the winter months, it is doubtful whether Hobbs' salary will amount to more than $4000 a year. Once during his lifetime as a cricketer he will be given a benefit and from this he may net about $5000. He keeps a sporting goods store and his cricket bats are eagerly sought after by the rising generation of cricketers, but certainly the maker of a "century of centuries" is not waxing wealthy from sport.

Plain Jack Hobbs

This is according to the English idea. Sport is not commercialized here as it is in America and the professional sportsman doesn't carry the prestige that his brother in America does. Hobbs, for instance, is just plain Jack Hobbs—no one will ever refer to him as "Mr. Jack Hobbs," although the reports of his cricket matches may be filled with the names of other "Misters." This is because Hobbs is just a player and not a gentleman player. A player is one who plays for money and a gentleman player is one who plays for the sport of the game. This doesn't sound like a great difference, but it is just enough of a difference to create a gulf of the widest distinction in England. When Hobbs and his colleagues meet in a match with gentlemen players the ordinary players are not allowed to mingle off the "pitch" with the gentlemen players. When the match is stopped for tea the gentlemen players wander into the pavilion and sip their tea in the midst of the admiring female bevy, while the players slide off to a little home of their own and drink their tea without the aid of any admiring females.

Hobbs is most certainly a gentleman, at least as Americans judge gentlemen, but he is not a gentleman player, and to the English that creates an impassable gulf over which this maker of a "century of centuries" can never pass.

With small keys we may open big vaults while with a sledge hammer we cannot cut loose some men's purse strings.

Seeking for Silver At Panamint Again

TONOPAH, Nev., July 9. — In the heart of the Panamint range, on the edge of Death Valley, Al Meyers, Tonopah mining man, has taken up a search for silver in the vicinity of the old Panamint mine, made famous by United States Senator William M. Stewart, who purchased it from bandits fifty years ago.

The veteran senator on becoming owner of the property received a document guaranteeing immunity from depredations by the bullion bandits. The document became a "sacred paper" soon after, and Stewart's consignments were seized as fast as they were shipped.

Stewart was in a rage. Then he hit on this idea: Instead of running his bullion in bars he made it up into big round balls of such a size and weight that they could not be carried on a packhorse. The first trip out the stage was stopped a short distance from the mine, but after trying to load the bullion on a packhorse the robbers had to let it roll down the hill. They left there, and the silver was recovered by the owner.

Stewart signed another treaty with the bandits later, which was not violated.

Arkansas Produces Valuable Diamonds

WASHINGTON, July 9. — Arkansas, famous for its slow trains, also takes rank as the only state which produces diamonds, over their discovery, in 1906, by John Huddleston, a farmer, according to the geological survey. Attracted by the unusual brilliance of a stone which his mule had kicked, Huddleston dismounted and recovered it. Examination by diamond experts proved it to be a genuine diamond. Soon after Huddleston sold his forty-acre farm for $36,000.

Though the Arkansas mines have never achieved any great renown as diamond depositories, stones which have been recovered, it is said, equal any found in India or Africa as to color and freedom from flaws. The largest stone found weighed 2 1/4 carats. Quite a number have sold for as high as $600 a carat, but the majority of them have been sold in their raw state to museums and collectors.

Snapping of the fingers does not convey intellectual expression.

THE GLENDALE

Stirring indeed is "Robin Hood" as Douglas Fairbanks has made it and as theatre-goers may now view it at the Glendale Theatre, where it runs daily and nightly all this week, until Saturday.

The whole world has talked about this film. Millions have seen it, beheld its colossal spectacle roll back the years to the twelfth century, when King Richard I ruled England and Robin Hood's "Merry Men" roamed the "greenwood."

Here in this thrilling picture, those glorious days have been made to live again, with all their pomp and splendor, whole sequences running through their action with hundreds, sometimes thousands of men employed.

During the many months when the Pickford-Fairbanks studios in Hollywood were given over to the filming of this epochal photoplay, the whole place was constantly a maze of spears. About 2000 spears and an equal number of swords were used, with 500 daggers besides, all exact replicas of the very implements of warfare used in that period of history.

This is but one instance of the fidelity to detail that characterizes Douglas Fairbanks' production of "Robin Hood" and makes it stand out as one of the handful of really enduring films. A fortune up in the hundreds of thousands of dollars was expended in perpetuating this immortal story on the screen, for the enjoyment of the world—and the world has given over the investment by its delighted patronage.

Golf Stars Meet in Championship Games

INWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, FAR ROCKAWAY, N. Y., July 9. —Ninety golf stars—the opening day's quota from the 358 players who will shoot at the championship crown now worn by Gene Sarazen—teed off this morning in the twenty-seventh annual playing of the national open golf championship.

With greens as smooth as a billiard table and the fairways first baked to the hardness of brick by two weeks of burning sun and then softened by a half dozen heavy showers during the last four days, the Inwood course was a perfect playing field. The day opened clear, with just the touch of breeze blowing in from the ocean—not enough to interfere with play. The stars of the golf world are here. Sarazen, in a preliminary round yesterday, turned in a 71, a below par score, was paired with Leo Diegel in today's qualifying round. Jack Hutchinson made the course in a 73 yesterday. He will

Paris Booksellers 'Stretch' Daylight

PARIS, July 9.—Daylight saving time isn't enough for the enterprising keepers of the picturesque bookstalls which stretch for many blocks along the quay on the left bank of the River Seine. The proprietor of one of the stalls conceived the idea of installing electric lights to enable patrons to peruse the volumes on his shelves after nightfall. Now proprietors all along the line are planning to put in the same fixtures and, incidentally, add two or three more hours to their already long vigil. The bookstalls form one of Paris' most unique institutions, meet Chick Frazer in today's preliminaries. Out of the 350 players entered—the largest field ever competing for the championship, but 90 will enter the finals on Friday and Saturday. Only 18 leaders of each day's qualifying rounds up to Thursday will fight it out for the championship.

Held for Perjury in Dancer's Death Case

SAN DIEGO, July 9.—Albert E. Kern, proprietor of the Blue Sea cottages at La Jolla, where Fritzie Mann and a male companion are said to have occupied a cottage on the evening of her death last January, was arrested on a warrant charging perjury and brought to the county jail at noon today. The warrant was issued by District Attorney Kempley this morning, and is a result of the sensational switch in Kern's testimony. On the stand Monday, Kern declared that Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, on trial for the alleged murder of the beautiful young dancer, was the man who accompanied her on the fatal Sunday night. In Jacobs' first trial Kern declared he could not say whether the man was Jacobs or not. Glendale Reading Circle Methods Are Outlined By Organization's President ADDED recognition has been brought to Glendale by an article, "A Representative Reading Circle and Its Methods," appearing in the July number of Child Welfare, the official organ of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, written by Mrs. A. A. Barton, president and director of the Glendale Mutual Benefit Reading Circle, and a member of the Glendale city board of education.

The Glendale Reading Circle has attracted wide attention from all parts of the United States and it is interesting to note that the Child Welfare magazine has subscribers in forty-six states and is the official organ of the National Congress of Mothers, an organization of 500,000 members. Glendadians will find interest in Mrs. Barton's article, reading, "The Mutual Benefit Reading Circle of Glendale, California, was organized in March, 1916, by Mrs. C. H. Toll, as chairman of education of Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations. Mrs. Toll had been a teacher for several years and had realized keenly the results of home training, as evidenced by her pupils. After she married and became the mother of four boys, she realized more than ever, that mothers might get great help by reading books compiled by men and women who had been trained along lines of scientific child development. Correspondence with the Bureau of Education at Washington brought the news that such a course of reading had been compiled, and lists were secured.

"Calling together in her home a group of women whom she knew to be interested, she suggested that a circle be formed to take up the reading of such a course. It met with immediate approval and details were gradually and carefully worked out.

"The time and frequency of meetings were vital points. The hours from 11 to 2 every Wednesday during the school sessions were chosen. Most of the mothers were their own housekeepers and could not spare too many hours from their busy work. The best time was when the children were in school under the care of the faithful teachers. Closing at two, the mothers could be home about the time the children arrived from school.

"Each one brings her own sandwiches or light lunch and a committee of two, changing each month, makes tea. The half hour of luncheon is a means of making many new friendships, exchanging and discussing all sorts of 'mother-problems'. Fingers fly over darning, mending, fancy work, while one member reads from the book selected from the course. Interruptions are frequent, and from personal experiences of the members, suggestions are often given some perplexed mother.

"It was found best to choose some one with a distinct enunciation to be the reader. The circle grew rapidly and it was deemed expedient to have various committees, appointed from time to time, avoiding too much business during circle hours.

Keep Record of Work
"Mrs. Toll kept very complete records of the circle work in all details and this has been continued through the years, making a complete history of members, number of meetings, books read, reviews given, visitors welcomed, babies born to circle members and all kinds of work accomplished. Roll-call is answered by quotations, which are written and handed in, and during the last three years these have been compiled and printed in booklet form. Since these booklets were put on sale just before the holidays at a few cents above cost, many of the circle members and friends using them for Christmas greetings.

"Circle dues are 25 cents per year, and are used for various small expenses; purchases for the tea committee, postals and stationery and purchases of books. Every member who becomes a mother is presented with a copy of the books of the list and a record is kept of these 'Circle babies'.

"Gala days are the birthday, the first Wednesday in March; Baby Day, last Wednesday in April, when all Circle babies are requested to be present to be admired; and the picnic, the last meeting in June.

"The first course from the government was completed and the eighth book of the second course is just being started.

"A social secretary keeps in touch with members who are ill or in sorrow. A follow-up committee writes a card or phones to members who are absent three weeks in succession. The membership changes from year to year. One hundred and eighty members were enrolled last year.

EXONERATE CREW IN TRAIN CRASH

Board of Inquiry in Death of David Young Places
Responsibility

The findings of the board of inquiry held in connection with the fatal injury to David Young at the Park avenue crossing of the Southern Pacific tracks, when struck on July 2 by train No. 60, state: "It is the conclusion of this board that the responsibility rests with the driver of the machine, for failing to take the ordinary precautions before crossing the railroad tracks."

"The board finds that the fireman acted intelligently and promptly in notifying the engineer of the approaching car, and that the engineer acted quickly and made an exceptionally quick stop," the findings state.

The testimony shows that the ill-fated car approached the tracks from the fireman's side, at a speed of about twenty miles per hour, neither the engineer showing any signs of observing the approaching train until they were on the track directly in its path, despite the fact that the weather was clear and the crossing protected by two standard stationary crossing signals, visible for a distance of 600 feet; and regardless of the facts that the locomotive whistle was sounded at the whistling post and that the bell rang continuously from Burbank, whence the train had come.

With David Young in the car was his brother, Al Young, who was seriously injured in the accident but escaped death.

President's Report Shows Tuesday Afternoon Club Work During Past Year

WHILE the success of the Tuesday Afternoon club during the past year is not attributable to any one person or group of persons, the guiding personality that has presided over club affairs during what is unanimously recognized as the greatest year in the club's history, is that of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, recently installed as club president for a second year. Since July, 1922, there have been 346 new members received in the club and the membership now includes 1001 Glendale women, composing one of the liveliest and most progressive club organizations in the Los Angeles District or State Federations of Women's clubs.

The following annual report just completed by Mrs. Campbell gives a comprehensive outline of club activities for the year just closed as reflected in the fulfillment of her administrative duties. She reports:

To the Board of Directors and Members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club:—On June 27, 1922, Mrs. John C. Urquhart, president of the Los Angeles district, California Federation of Women's Clubs, (now state president) started your twelve members of the board of directors for the year 1922-1923 on the hardest journey twelve women had ever the pleasure of tackling. We were started off under very pleasing circumstances as on that day the ground was broken here for the erection of our new club home.

Your president has presided at all the regular and special meetings of the year except that of May 8, when she was attending the twenty-second annual state convention held at Eureka. She has presided at all the regular and called board meetings except that held on Monday, May 7, when she was still at Eureka. She has attended all the executive building committee meetings except two, being called on the club grounds as early as 8 o'clock a. m., and at the home of our past president, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, to the wee small hours of the morning.

She has written and answered over 100 letters and it has seemed to her that her telephone has never ceased ringing from 7 o'clock a. m. until 11 and 12 o'clock p. m. The family has been obliged to leave home at times to get a little quietness from the telephone for when some one was not calling her, she was calling some one.

She had the pleasure of attending the district convention at San Luis Obispo and seeing Mrs. Charles H. Toll, one of our own beloved life members, installed as Los Angeles district president. One of our many pleasures she enjoyed during the past year was signing her name 173 times, presenting the name of Mrs. Toll as a candidate for president of Los Angeles district.

Laid Cornerstone
On Charter Day, the second Tuesday in November, she was assisted by all the past presidents or their representatives in laying the cornerstone of our new club house.

On March 12, the club house was opened to all our friends in Glendale and surrounding district when we held a reception from 3 until 5 o'clock. The president presided at the formal opening, March 13, "Husbands' Night." She has attended eleven reciprocity meetings, attended six presidents' councils, one at Long Beach, one at Huntington Park and four in Los Angeles.

We have entertained at luncheon, on May 24, all the men heads of all the religious, civic and fraternal organizations in Glendale, letting the gentlemen see how our club works on our annual business meeting.

On our closing luncheon day, June 27, we extended the same courtesy to some of the heads of the women's organizations.

We have added to our membership since July 1922, 346 new members. Death has robbed us of two of our past presidents, Mrs. Mary Gridley-Brady and Mrs. A. W. Tower, also Mrs. E. C. Frank, an honorary member, Mrs. Harriet White, one of our oldest members, Mrs. James Connor and Mrs. J. L. Watson. Our membership to date is 1001.

At the beginning of the club year, Mrs. Von Oven had to resign from the board of directors, on account of poor health and the board appointed Mrs. A. A. Barton in her place. Since May 1, Mrs. Barton has been secretary, hostess and is in the office from 9 until 11 o'clock during the summer months.

Ten Club Sections
We had eight splendid sections at the end of the last year, and this year we added two more, the Bible section and the Maids' and Young Matrons' section. Our Arts and Crafts section has been so popular that we had to start an Arts and Crafts, "Number two."

Our council consists of the board of directors, curators of sections and chairmen of committees, making forty-three persons. We have met four times this year and the club has profited greatly by the help which came from those conferences. Your president has been your chairman of finance for building and furnishings, not only during the year 1921-1922 but also 1922-1923. She rejoices with every member of the club that we have not found it necessary to borrow the $10,000 from the two members and eight good men who had enough confidence in our business ability to be willing to sign our note in a Glendale bank for that amount. Your president has also seen to it that our building equipment is properly insured. We carry liability compensation insurance and pay for monthly police protection.

We have taken from the membership of the club ninety-nine names and they are now life members, your president becoming a life member at the end of April, 1922, making 100 life members and thereby receiving in cash $10,000, without interest, towards our furnishings.

At our annual meeting honorary life membership was conferred upon Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson in recognition of her work in purchasing the ground and acting as executive chairman of the building committee.

Our ten sections and twenty-two committees have worked willingly and harmoniously, leaving very tangible evidence of their love for our clubhouse in the form of useful and beautiful furnishings and equipment.

We have had Hugo Kirchhofer from 1:30 until 2:30 o'clock every day, leading us in community singing, accompanied by our own Mrs. H. R. Boyer.

Any Gifts Received
We have received from friends and admirers eighty gifts. All the committees and sections and board members have given the club twenty-seven gifts. For our formal opening, March 13, we received sixteen baskets of beautiful flowers from friends and organizations. We have seven memorials in the shape of furniture or pictures. Over 550 auditorium chairs have been purchased by members and friends and presented to the club.

We have kept up all our philanthropic work, adding to our usual yearly contributions cash to the Juvenile Protective Association and the Orthopedic Hospital. Our chairmen have also helped with the sale of tickets for every worthwhile object brought to our notice.

Our legislative section has kept in touch with our own Mr. Weller while in Sacramento, and we have supported bills relating to women and children especially.

Your president has represented you at receptions, banquets, luncheons and has given a word of greeting when invited to do so, and had the pleasure of addressing the Women's Club of Owensmouth on their guest day, on June 27.

She had one of the year books for 1922-1923 put in the crypt at Grand View cemetery, which shall be opened in fifty years from date of depositing same.

It has been with the greatest possible pleasure that she has, in the name of the club, been able to give our beautiful banquet room, palm court and kitchen, when necessary, to Community Service for recreational work for the young women and young men of Glendale.

We took out a membership in the Chamber of Commerce in October, 1922, and have had the pleasure of assisting that valuable body of interested citizens.

We also have a membership in Save the Redwoods League and were able to help financially in getting a prize for one of the talented amateur artists of the Los Angeles district.

District Officers
We have had the great pleasure of presenting to the district not only our own Mrs. Toll but Mrs. J. C. Dunn, our recording secretary, as corresponding secretary for the Los Angeles district California Federation of Women's Clubs. We are proud and happy of the work our Mrs. E. E. Chase has been privileged to do during the last two years as chairman of drama for the district.

Words fail to express my sincere thanks to my friends on the board, eleven women who are true blue and true hearted workers in the world, the past presidents, section curators and committees. Your president must not forget the Glendale Evening News and the telephone company, who have always been happy to serve us. And last, but by no means least, the good husbands and friends who have stood by us with their valuable advice and have helped us financially and put up with many inconveniences so their wives and women folks might work for the success of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. There are many of the members of the club known only to the president, who have worked quietly, not being on committees; they have encouraged your president with many kind words and warm hand-clasps. Your president feels better physically than she did one year ago and she would not be true to herself or to the club if she did not reverently and humbly thank the kind Heavenly Father, who doeth all things well and has given her the strength to carry on.

AT BIBLE SCHOOL
The daily vacation Bible school at the First Methodist church is now "going good," according to the report of Rev. Harry I. Rasmus, Jr. He stated this morning that more than 100 children between the ages of 5 to 12 are now attending the sessions from 9 to 12 a. m. each week-day except Saturday.

WHITE TELLS OF EDUCATORS' MEET

City School Superintendent
At Session of World
Teachers

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, returned Saturday after a week in Oakland and San Francisco, where as state delegate he attended the annual conference of the National Educational association, and also had the privilege of attending various sessions of the First International Conference of Educational associations.

Mr. White reports that, while there were only 700 accredited delegates present, interested visitors from many points packed the auditorium, the largest assemblage being that of the joint meeting of the two conferences, held in the municipal auditorium in San Francisco, when the audience was estimated at 15,000 persons.

It was interesting to Californians to note that the state superintendent, Will C. Wood, was accorded the greatest ovation of any educator present. His appearance at any session was the signal for a round of applause.

Legislation Planned
The National Educational association mapped out a program on legislation covering every field, comprising every one of the national questions in which the 140,000 members of the National Educational association, as well as the general public, are interested. Resolutions adopted covered the following subjects: "The Education Bill; State Responsibilities; Status of the Teacher; Political Sniping; Child Labor Amendment; Physical Education; National Capital; American History."

"The one big note of discord," said Mr. White, "came when the assembly split on the question of adopting a plan of teaching history, geography and literature from the international point of view, rather than a national. It was decided in the negative with a vote of 224 to 132, and will be reported at the next annual meeting."

Present at the International Conference were delegates from India, China, Japan, many of the Central American states, Great Britain, Mexico, Canada, France, Spain, and many other countries. Scotland and Japan both extended invitations to the International conference to make one of those countries the place of the next World conference, but no announcement has been made in regard to the acceptance of these.

President's Route Proves Elusive Thoroughfare To Volunteer Path Finder

By GIL A. COWAN

PLANS for President Harding's reception in this vicinity go on apace, it being proposed that the ninth congressional district give his party the most enthusiastic greeting ever accorded any dignitary. All of which is going to be some job, but, from experience, we know it will be a great success, this trip of the President from Hollywood to Long Beach by way of Glendale, Pasadena, South Pasadena, Alhambra, San Gabriel and way stations. That is, it will be a success if the steering committee doesn't do as the writer did last Friday night in motoring to Long Beach where a reception committee was formed at the request of Chairman Ralph L. Arnold and Congressman Walter F. Lineberger.

Hearing that the presidential party was to be routed by way of Pasadena and San Gabriel to Long Beach we thought we would try it. Nothing like knowing the subject being talked about, so away we went over the hills to Pasadena, missed South Pasadena by a couple of blocks, got into Alhambra without trying, got lost in San Gabriel and finally found a sign saying "Long Beach."

Undoubtedly the sign was correct, but when we reached Whittier boulevard there was doubt in our mind which way to turn. Evidently we turned wrong someplace for the sign at the crossroads read "Long Beach, 17 miles." The next turn and the guide post gave the sad information that Long Beach was 18 miles away.

15 Miles Per Hour
By that time we had passed Pico station, Dominguez, Riviera and heaven knows what else, only to be back in the vicinity of Huntington Park, so we dodged down Cudahy avenue into Long Beach boulevard and made the most of our two hours traveling in traffic that permits 15 miles an hour sometimes.

It was a great ride—over the countryside which the President will see, except we hope he doesn't see as much, or rather that he is able to see more in daylight than we did in the dark without any moonshine. There is one sight, however, which we must commend and that is the Signal Hill oilfields.

Years have passed since the writer last traversed Long Beach boulevard and passed through the heart of what is now the most famous oil-producing territory in the United States. The lights of Signal Hill are a myriad and each one represents an oil rig, either drilling or completed as a well from which flows a tremendous wealth of liquid black gold.

Major Lineberger has suggested to the committee in charge of arrangements at Long Beach that

AUTO COLLISION

Possession of the right-of-way failed to prevent an automobile, driven by Roy W. Norton, of 321-A Oak street, from being struck by a machine piloted by A. Young, of Pasadena. The collision occurred about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Los Feliz and San Fernando roads. Officer Glenn Hemminger of the local police department was on the button. Damage consisted in a dent in the right rear fender of Mr. Norton's automobile.

Give the Baby L-A Guaranteed Nursery Milk

Hundreds of Glendale kiddies are kept in robust health through the use of this wholesome milk.

L-A Guaranteed Milk comes fresh daily from the great, strictly sanitary, 12-acre L-A Valley Ranch in the San Fernando Valley.

From cow to bottle is a matter of about five minutes. The bottles are packed in ice and rushed to Glendale and other distributing points by rapid motor.

To protect the precious contents, each bottle of Guaranteed L-A Milk has a special sanitary cap held in place by a metal ring in addition to the customary cardboard milk bottle seal.

You can have L-A Guaranteed Milk left on your door step, whenever you wish BEFORE breakfast by phoning Glendale 1902.

A Qualified Judge

Today's Short Story by Ad Schuster

"I'm not kicking about the pay, Mame, nor the hours. It's the idea of selling nothing but phoney stuff, associating with all this brass finery, that gets me. What chance has a girl in my position to learn anything of the finer things in life?"

Edith Murray, clerk in the jewelry counter of the Five and Ten, voiced her grievance as she surveyed the glittering array before her. Mame nodded.

"Depends," she said, "on what you call the finer things. Me, I think them brooches is fine and if you lose one it's no great shucks. Besides, vacation is coming and what is finer than that?"

The two were to take their vacation together. With a group of girls and a chaperone they were to spend two weeks in a cottage at the lake.

"It will be just lovely," Mame put it. "With Bill and Ed and the rest of them taking another cottage like they did last year. Guess you won't worry about cheap jewelry when Bill forks in his vest pocket for a diamond. It must be wonderful to be so near engaged."

Bill had known Edith for years. It was not at all unlikely, the girl thought, when they returned she would be wearing his ring and their plans would mean an end to work in the store. Bill was reliable and solid, not a bit like this "jewelry." She could not help but hold the wish that with a chance to see some of the finer ornaments of life, she could have the chance to meet more men. He was not like the men of the story books but was—well, just Bill.

The first day at the lake Edith met Ward Clark, resident in flannels, the beau of the resort. Ward carried a stick and wore jewels on his tie and on his fingers. He talked in the thousands of dollars and carried himself with an air of conferring a favor on the world. In the girls' cottage it was agreed he was the best thing out of the movies and Edith was envied. Bill took to fishing.

As the days went on Edith saw less and less of her old friend. Ward took her to dances and rowed with her on the lake while

Bill's occasional invitation involved the risk of freckles and the task of baiting hooks. It was fun to be the envy of the girls and this was to be her last vacation, unless—The girl reckoned the possibilities, Ward and Bill, and for a moment was sober.

The two weeks drew to a close and both men proposed. It was Ward who did it first, phrasing his declaration out of the pages of romance and with the satisfaction of an actor who performs well. Edith was strangely thrilled when he knelt before her and thought, suitably, that she wished the others could see.

Bill was an awkward and almost crestfallen suitor. He had intended to propose, he told himself, and wasn't going to let any counter-jumping Nancy cheat him given the opportunity to decide. He would get his answer and hold it forever.

"Edith," Bill put it bluntly, "I made up my mind I would ask you to marry me but you haven't given me much chance. I'm doing it now. I don't know whether it will do any good or not, but I'm doing it."

The girl was silent and grave. Under the circumstances, Bill thought, she ought to say something. This was baffling and embarrassing.

"Most like," he blurted, "it's Mr. Clark. Are you going to marry him?"

Then Edith smiled.

"Bill," she said, "I have always wanted to see something of the better things. I have wanted better friends, finer ones, clothes and the like. You know, I have been selling jewelry in the Five and Ten and I wanted to see the real thing—in jewelry and men."

"Then it is Clark?"

"I've decided I don't know much about the real things I have wanted," the girl continued, "but my training has made me an expert in the cheap. That is why I refused Ward."

"Honest, Edith," Bill said a little later, "this here diamond I got in my pocket is real."

OF EGYPTIAN INSPIRATION
The "pulled-up-in-front" giraffe of this plastic crepe roma frock, shows its Egyptian inspiration, while the cascade drapery expresses the Parisian determination not to be superseded by any other style. The waist has an oval neck and distended shoulders, the one-piece gathered skirt being attached to its lower edge. The fronts are lapped and the right side hangs free, forming a cascade drapery. Medium size requires three and seven-eighths yards of forty-inch material.

COMBINATIONS POINT TO SIMPLICITY
A step-in combination of practical service as well as style and beauty is this, fashioned of soft nainsook and trimmed with hand-embroidered scallops. If preferred, the neck may be cut V-shaped and shoulder straps of ribbon added. Crepe de chine, rayon silk, linen, batiste, or cotton crepe could also be used for the design. Medium size requires two yards of thirty-six-inch material.

MASSAGE THE NECK

After you have passed the age of 30 your neck will need an unusual amount of care if you want to keep your youthful appearance for the next quarter century. It is fortunate, however, that the neck is easier to treat than almost any other part of the body. It has no tendency to grow superfluous hair, therefore thick creams made with cocoa butter can be used on it.

I am going to give several suggestions and list them according to their expense, the first one costing practically nothing. If you do not wish to spend much in beautifying yourself, or if you live an inconvenient distance from drug stores, try this. First, scrub the neck thoroughly with a small brush, rinse with hot water, dry, and, while the skin is still hot, massage into the neck a quantity of ordinary lard.

Lard is one of the best cosmetics in existence, but most people object to the odor, so it is not used much. Leave a generous amount on the surface of the skin, wrap the neck loosely with pieces of old muslin and leave on overnight. The muslin can be washed and used again and again. You can substitute olive oil or almond oil instead of lard; they are not quite so nourishing, but more pleasant to use.

Here is a little fattening cream specially made for thin or wrinkled necks: Lanoline, one ounce; sweet almond oil, one-half ounce; boric acid, forty drops; tincture of benzoin, ten drops.

Another treatment is to massage the neck with warmed cocoa butter three nights a week. On alternate nights use the following astringent: Alum, sixty grains; almond milk, one and one-half ounces; rosewater, 6 ounces. Dissolve the alum in the rosewater, then add the milk. Shake thoroughly until well mixed.

C. S. A.—To make the black-head cleansing powder take: Two parts wheat or corn starch. One part powdered borax. One part almond meal. Mix these ingredients and keep in a handy box. Hold hot wet cloth over the face until the pores are open, then dip the fingers in hot water, dip in the powder, and rub over the face and well into the skin.

You do not need to use soap if you use this powder, for it is gears in hot water, dip in the powder, and rub over the face and well into the skin.

Your Neck Needs Great Care

cleaning and drying, too. Rinse with hot water, then cold or ice water. If the skin gets too dry from using the cleansing powder, massage occasionally with cold cream.

Martha D.—A girl of 22 years of age, 5 ft., should weigh 125 pounds. As you are twenty-five pounds underweight, I would advise you to build up your health by drinking plenty of milk.

Combination Salad—This means, of course, any combination of left-overs suitable to combine for a salad. The "Combination Salad" which Thursday's menu will call for might, for instance, be made of beets, string beans (left over from Wednesday night's dinner), mixed with a hard-boiled, diced egg and a little chopped pickle to make it appetizing. Serve with Mayonnaise dressing.

Stuffed Potatoes—Bake six potatoes of uniform size. When done and still hot, cut off a small end from each potato and scoop out the inside into a bowl; mash and add two tablespoons of butter, one-half cup of hot milk, one teaspoon of finely chopped parsley and salt and pepper to season. Beat the whites of two eggs stiff and mix it with the potato. Then refill the skins with this stuffing, letting it mound up well. Brush the tops with the egg-yolk and crowd the stuffed potatoes together into a small pan so that they will stand upright. Slip the pan into a hot oven for ten minutes, and serve. If desired, a slice of bacon may be laid over the top of each potato, to crisp in this final baking.

Stuffed Baked Peppers—Cut a slice from the stem-end of several bell peppers and scoop out the seeds. Let the "pepper-cups" lie in salted water for one hour, then boil them in clear water for ten minutes and drain. They have now lost their strong taste and are ready to be stuffed. Of course, hash, ham and peas, or any appropriate stuffing may be used for them. But the stuffing I had in mind for Sunday Night's Supper menu is the following:

Chicken Stuffing—Put the left-overs from the Sunday Noon Dinner's Fricassee Chicken through your meat grinder, measure it, then season it to taste with salt and pepper. Add one teaspoon of grated onion, one tablespoon of chopped parsley, one large tomato finely minced, with its juice, and the same measure of cracker crumbs as you have of chicken. Mix well together, and use as a stuffing for the pepper-cups. Lay a slice of bacon over the top of each stuffed pepper and bake, in a pan containing a very little boiling water, for 40 minutes. If desired, chopped stuffed olives may also be added to the stuffing, to give a different flavor. Or left-overs of chives, celery and a very little chopped pickle may be added. The peppers may be stuffed in the early afternoon, kept in the refrigerator, then baked at night, for supper—thus allowing the housewife to remain out till almost supper-time.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

ON GETTING AWAY MENTALLY

We were talking about world issues the other night, and trying to gauge the effect of certain happenings, like the world war, on future generations, and of course our deductions were vague and diffuse and uncertain.

"We are too near our times to judge them properly," said the Authorman. "We need a perspective of a hundred years or so to see events in comparison with other epochal situations, in order to gauge them with any degree of accuracy."

When Children Are Sick

There is nothing that helps in any difficult situation so much as standing off and viewing it from a distance.

"When my children are sick," says a mother I know, "I get panicky until I force myself to sit down and view the case calmly. And when I stop thinking of this one sick child who seems to me so desperately ill, and think instead of the hundreds of children in ages past who have been just as sick and of the big majority who have pulled through, I lose that panicky fear and see the thing more sanely."

It is harder to get a proper perspective on the mental and moral ills of our children. Sometimes we can get it best through the eyes of someone else.

Another mother friend of mine finds the scout master of her troop to which her boy belongs her best aid here.

When the Boy Is Grouchy

"It is remarkable that that man, who has never had a boy of his own, understands boy nature," she says. "John has gotten to that age of adolescence that I've always heard heralded as a difficult and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. DIET FOR CHILDREN—AND ADULTS, CONT.

The Leafy Vegetables

ually served. They can be eaten in comparatively large amounts because they are low in energy or caloric value. Spinach is just as delicious raw as it is cooked, and in this way it retains more of its vitamins. (Chopped fairly fine and served with the ordinary salad dressing or one made of one part honey and four parts of lemon juice is the way I like it.)

CABBAGE—is another vegetable which is receiving gold medals in the food line since the vitamins have been known. It is rich in all three of the known vitamins. It is especially rich in the anti-scurbutic and the anti-neuritic vitamins, and has some of the anti-ophthalmic vitamins. It is more easily digested and more valuable for its vitamins when taken raw.

It can be ground or finely chopped or sliced, and may be given to any child who has all its teeth and has been taught to masticate his food thoroughly. The juice of raw cabbage can even be given to babies when orange juice cannot be secured.

There are many foods besides those we usually eat raw which are delicious served raw if they are ground fine and a little salad dressing is used with them.

If children are taught, beginning at six months of age, to like "pureed vegetables" (that is, vegetables cooked and strained), and then as soon as they are able to masticate given the vegetables unstrained, they will always like them and a valuable part of their diet will be supplied. And you won't have a finicky child.

CHRIST'S ADVENT SERMON'S THEME

Elder Parmele Tells Belief in Second Coming of Risen Saviour

Elder R. W. Parmele, who believes in the literal, personal coming of Christ and the resurrection of the body in common with other members of his denomination, last night explained the reasons for his belief to the congregation of the Seventh-Day Adventist church. "I believe it because the Bible teaches it," he declared. "When the Saviour left this earth two heavenly visitants announced to the wondering apostles, as they watched their Lord ascend from their view, 'This same Jesus shall so come in like manner.'"

"And I believe in the resurrection of the righteous dead and the translation of the righteous living at that time, because some have already enjoyed that experience. Two men, after having actually been in heaven, returned to the earth to add that evidence to the promises contained in the Bible. One of those men had died and had been buried. The other had gone to heaven without dying."

"In the fifth chapter of Romans, the 14th verse, we read that 'death reigned from Adam to Moses.' It is therefore evident that the reign of death was broken. Before the death of Moses there is no record of anyone having been raised from the dead, either to this mortal life again or to the life that is to come."

"The Lord told Moses that he must die. In obedience to the Lord's command, he climbed to the top of Mount Nebo, and after being given a vision of the land of Canaan he laid down and died. 'And God buried him,' says the scriptures. But Jude tells us that at some time Michael, which means Christ, had a dispute in regard to the body of Moses. Satan evidently claimed that he should be left in the grave; but Christ rebuked him, and that he gave him special resurrection is evident from the text cited in Romans and from the fact that he was afterward seen alive."

Elijah, carried up
"One day as Elijah and Elisha walked along together and talked, that behold . . . Elijah went up into heaven by a whirlwind. These two men, Moses and Elijah, who we know had actually been in heaven, afterward returned to the earth, and were seen on the 'mount of transfiguration.' And why did they return?"

"It is recorded that the Saviour promised that some of those standing there would not taste of death until they should 'see the Son of man coming in his kingdom.' How about this promise since they are now all dead? The first four verses of the next chapter, which verses succeed the previous ones, contain the promise, tell us that 'after six days' Jesus took certain of them up into a high mountain, and was transfigured before them, assuming the appearance that he will bear when he comes in his kingdom."

"And there appeared Moses and Elias, or Elijah, talking with him." These two appeared to represent the two classes of the saints of God who will be taken to heaven when Jesus comes in his kingdom—Moses representing those saints that will be raised from their graves, and Elijah representing that class that will be translated at that time."

Peter's Account
"Peter was one of those present upon that occasion, and he later understood the significance of what they had seen. In his epistle to 'them that have received the like precious faith' he refers to this experience as being one of his strong evidences that they had 'not followed cunningly devised fables' when they 'made known the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.'"

"So, we may be assured of a resurrection, for Moses has already been raised and taken to heaven. And we may be sure of the translation of those faithful ones who are so fortunate as to live to see the coming of the Lord. For Elijah has already been translated. He was not taken upon some mountain or in some valley, as some of the sons of the prophets pretended to think at the time it occurred. But, after having actually been in heaven for a long time, he, with Moses, returned to the earth."

ganized at the International Conference, with Augustus O. Thomas of Maine elected first president. This was joined officially by the National Educational Association."

"The object of the Federation is to promote peace of the world through education; by teaching in schools of all nations the interdependence of nations; interchange of teachers between nations; encouraging greater correspondence between individual teachers, between children and between organizations of different countries; teaching through the schools that countries are like neighbors, and must be friendly."

Noted Speakers
At the joint meeting of the two great conferences, speakers were Princess Borghese of Rome, Italy; Hemendra K. Dahit of India; Augustus O. Thomas of Maine; F. J. Sainsbury, president of the national union of teachers of England and Wales; Ray I. Wilbur, president of Stanford University. M. Sawaynagi, president of Imperial Educational Association of Japan. Hawaii was represented by sixteen delegates, the entire quota to which the islands are entitled."

Sermon Excerpts And News Notes From Local Churches

CHURCHES of Glendale held solemn, impressive services yesterday, attended by large crowds. Pastors preached on varied topics and special music was provided by soloists and choirs. Herewith are presented brief excerpts from sermons and, too, other church news:

Proper Support for Ministers, Demand

An especially arranged service took place last night at the First Methodist church. Dr. W. M. Jeffers of Los Angeles preached upon the topic "The Indispensable Man."

A musical program was given by Harold S. Schwab, organist, and Miss Clarice Hamlin, contralto, both of Boston. The solo was Spieker's "Evening and Morning."

Organ numbers included: "Prelude" from Mendelssohn's "Third Symphony," "Caprice" by Dehays, "Bell Rondo" by Morandi, "Invocation" by Guilmant and Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in E Minor." The postlude was "Allegro Maestoso" from Mendelssohn's "Second Sonata."

The church's male quartet also sang. This is composed of Dr. P. O. Lucas, 115 South Verdugo Road; Dr. C. R. Lusby, 339 North Louise street; Paul Butterfield, 421 Linden avenue, and Frank Butterfield, 1246 East California avenue.

"Many reasons are given as to the cause of the scarcity of young men offering themselves as candidates for the ministry," declared Rev. Jeffers. "Among these are two: first, small salaries; second, lack of support after retirement. Forty-nine per cent of all Methodist ministers receive an average salary of $545. Forty-two per cent receive an average of $1333 making in all 91 per cent receiving an average of $940 per year. There is no possibility of the average minister being able to rear a family, educate his children and provide for old age on such small salaries."

"Bishop Quayle was right when he called the minister 'God's Indispensable Man.' These men cannot go into side lines in order to make money. God's command to them is 'Preach the Word.'"

"It is an insult to call this cause charity. In the very highest sense it is a debt the church owes. No church has a right to expect the blessings of God, which neglects its veterans for Christ."

Parable of Prodigal Son, Kringle's Topic

"The Prodigal Son" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Concordia Evangelical Lutheran church.

"When many publicans and sinners came to Jesus," explained Rev. Henry O. Kringle, "The Pharisees and Scribes said scornfully: 'This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them.' His loving intermingling with sinners was made a reproach to Him but this could not induce Him to discard them from Him. To defend His conduct and to teach us for what purpose He came to this world, He used the parable of 'The Prodigal Son.'"

"A wealthy nobleman had two sons; the older was a dutiful young man, but the younger was a wayward boy. When he had asked and received his portion of the inheritance, he made preparation to leave home, to see the world and to make his fortune. To the warnings and petitions of his father he turned a deaf ear. He wanted to be his own master, to have his own way and do as he liked. He soon succumbed to the temptations of sin and finding companions of his own sentiment he 'wasted his substance with riotous living.'"

"Oh, how many people forsake Christ and break the pledge of faithfulness made to God! Yet return, acknowledge your sin and you shall have all again."

Astronomy Used to Illustrate Sermon

"Thomas Carlyle, the philosopher and writer, was not a Christian, but he once made the statement that the book of Job was the greatest piece of literature in the world," said Rev. B. C. Cory in his sermon at the Service Sunday morning at the Casa Verdugo M. E. church.

His text was "Canst Thou Bind the Sweetness of the Pleiades?" His theme, centering on Alcyon, pivot of the universe, was aptly illustrated with history of astronomy. His sermon was divided into two sections, the discourse of the morning, taken up again at the evening service, with a short sermon on "Christ as the pivotal being, the spiritual hinge of the universe."

A beautiful duet, "Moment by Moment," was sung at the morning service by Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jones. At the evening service, Mrs. Jones sang a soprano solo, "Open My Heart."

PREACHES TWICE
Rev. W. Hunter Brink occupied the pulpit yesterday at both services of the Central Avenue Methodist church. His morning subject was "First Things First" while his evening topic was "Who Then Can Be Saved?"

Gold Hill, highest point along the Panama canal, is 540 feet.

same time that I could not be in so many places at once, and missed hearing many fine speakers." He enjoyed the week in the bracing air of the northern Bay city, and met many acquaintances from this vicinity, among them Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, Miss Carol Duncan, delegates from the Glendale City Teachers' club, Miss Ida C. Waite of Glendale was also attending the conference.

SHOWS LIKENESS TO CHRIST'S LIFE

Elisha's Miracles Similar to Those of Saviour, Says
Rev. W. E. Edmonds

At the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, spoke, using as his theme "The Pot of Oil," and taking his text from 2 Kings 4:2-7. Reverend Edmonds said:

"The events in the life of Elisha were more like those of the life of Christ than any incidents in the Old Testament. Many of his miracles are distinctly parallel to the miracles of our Lord, and breathe the same spirit of love and graciousness. A striking object lesson is here portrayed of the sufficiency of the Holy Spirit for supplying every need."

"Here is a picture of debt involving the slavery of two sons and the utter destitution of their mother, her husband being dead. One thing is outstanding, the poor widow feared the Lord and recognized His power manifest through the prophet. In her condition of debt, danger and distress, she had no one to go to but God, and, of course, His power then and always is all sufficient."

"It is interesting to take an inventory of this woman's resources. To her it seemed as nothing, but that little pot of oil was the one thing needful, for it contained the supply of all her need. Whether it be a pot of oil, the rod of Moses, or five loaves and two small fishes, our least is enough for God if we allow Him complete control. Few of us seem to realize our spiritual resources by the Holy Spirit and our redemption rights."

Make Room for God

"Our greatest need is that we make room for God. Sometimes He has to make room for Himself. Not enough to have need, we must have emptiness. We must be emptied of self-consciousness and dependence upon man. There must be faith. We must count upon God. We must not wait until we see the oil running, but anticipate God's fulfillment, and trust, even when sight and reason say it is nonsense."

"This woman enjoyed the esteem of her neighbors for she borrowed all their empty vessels. There were pots, pans, vessels everywhere. At Elisha's command she shut the door upon herself and her two sons, for there was to be no demonstration here. What a beautiful picture. The woman of faith and her two sons with the door shut. Now is the time for God to work, and He certainly will, by His Holy Spirit."

"Faith is manifest by works. She begins to pour out the contents of that little pot. The little pot of oil became a tube or pipe and every vessel was filled. Still that little pot was running, and it would have been running still if there had been vessels enough and room enough, but there is not a vessel more. 'And the oil stayed.' This sentence tells the story of many a life. How sad to see a Christian whom the Holy Spirit can no longer use. The influence and example are on the wrong side. They are saved, yet so as by fire. They bear no sheaves. Their lives are barren. They get into heaven by the skin of their teeth. May the Lord have mercy on the soul of the backslider."

Spirit of Power

"Another great lesson is here. The woman is told 'Go, sell the oil and live, thou and thy children, on the rest.' This pot of oil represents that of power and value in meeting a great need—slavery and poverty. It meant money, food, clothes. The Holy Spirit is convertible, so to speak, into everything we need. He is the Spirit of Power."

"We alone limit His power. He, the oil, never fails. We, the vessels, give out. The supply of oil ceases when there are no more vessels. It is a question of relationship. Vessels for the oil; for the vessels. Many face the dilemma—one apart from the other. The Holy Spirit is present, but there are no vessels, or they are unclean. 'Be ye clean that bear the vessels of the Lord.' 'Blessed are the pure in heart.'"

Scores Substitutes For Christ's Sacrifice

A feature of the services of the Broadway Methodist church yesterday morning in the American Legion Hall, 610 East Broadway, was the baptism by Rev. L. J. Millikan of his granddaughter, Shirley Ann Millikan.

As a solo, Mrs. A. M. Draper sang Roman's "I Come to Thee," at the morning service. Mr. Hudny was the soloist at the evening service.

The organ recital in the evening by Oscar Walton of the Bible Institute, Los Angeles, included the following: "At Sunset" by Sellers, "Song of Happiness" by Lemare, and "Evensong" by Johnson. The postlude was by Dunham.

"All truly great men are humble—not religious bigots, in the kingdom of God. I believe with all my soul in 'advanced thinking' but I deplore that pathetically sad condition and attitude of many misguided minds who would substitute some 'mental concoction' for the shed blood of Jesus Christ."

Christlike Character Greatest Possession

"The Cost of Character" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Congregational church. Rev. C. M. Calderwood announced that the evening services will be omitted during the summer months.

J. A. Myers of 310 West Lexington drive was the soloist. Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Cavanah of 230 North Orange street sang the duet. Organ numbers by Miss Lilla E. Litch of 424 North Olive street included as the prelude and postlude, "Andante con Moto" by Steane and "Allegro Pomposo" by Holloway.

"Christlike character is the most precious possession that any person can have but it cannot be had for nothing," explained Rev. C. M. Calderwood. "Jesus told the story of the man who found a pearl of great price. He could not get it for nothing. He had to sell all of his goodly pearls in order to buy it, but it was worth more than it cost else he would not have made the sacrifice."

"The Kingdom of God is the greatest thing on earth. It is the golden age. It is a world of peace, justice, happiness, good-will and where spiritual things are most valued. It is an eternalized heaven made visible. In it men and women will be fed, clothed, educated, refined, spiritualized and they will strive for the best things. It means the brotherhood of man; all classes, all races, all nations, all creeds, thinking not of their own welfare primarily but the welfare of all."

"The Kingdom of God will be found in Christly character. It is God's greatest treasure. We have seen the pearl of greatest price and we would like to possess it. We can possess it, if we are willing to pay the price. To gain it we must put all that we have and all that we are and hope to be at the disposal of Christ."

Peter's Vision Opened Church to Gentiles

Peter's vision that resulted in the doors of the early church being opened to Gentile believers was the topic of discussion yesterday morning in the council chamber of the city hall before the Men's Brotherhood of the Presbyterian church.

"We cannot realize the difficulty to the mind of a Jew that Gentiles could be admitted at once to the church without passing through the door of Judaism," said Rev. Keith L. Brooks.

God had to awaken Peter to this by the unique vision of a great sheet let down from heaven, filled with all manner of beasts and creeping things. This was a unique symbol of universal humanity. Peter was commanded to kill and eat. This brought to his mind the Mosaic restrictions which differed from the Jewish law on all other nations. Peter objected at first, because it was a new idea. But God showed him there was to be no further ceremonial distinction.

"Jew and Gentile united in killing and eating. There need be no separation. All alike are guilty and need salvation. The church is a conglomerate mixture, like what Peter saw in his vision, but cleansed by the blood of the Lamb of God."

When Peter was persuaded to enter the home of Cornelius and preach the Gospel, the Jewish phase of the church ended. The Cornelius he said: "I prefer that God is no respecter of persons." Peter had fallen asleep a sectarian, but he woke up a cosmopolitan. The words "whosoever be" occur for the first time in this book. Christianity could never have attracted the world as a Jewish sect. Christians have much reason to be thankful for the vision that came to Peter and for the journey he made to the house of Cornelius. The door was henceforth thrown wide open to all."

Presbyterians Hear Program by Quartet

A quartet sang yesterday at both services of the Presbyterian church. The morning number consisted of "Hear, O Israel," by Von Berge, while the evening selections were Lorenz's "Foolish Hearts, Why Will Ye Wander?" and Bishop's "My Soul Exalting Sing." The quartet was composed of the following: Miss Elizabeth Mottern, 211 North Adams street, soprano; Mrs. A. M. Draper, 334 North Kenwood street, contralto; J. Maccomson Huddy, Pasadena, tenor; and Norman W. Kelch, Los Angeles, bass.

As a solo, Mrs. A. M. Draper sang Roman's "I Come to Thee," at the morning service. Mr. Hudny was the soloist at the evening service.

The organ recital in the evening by Oscar Walton of the Bible Institute, Los Angeles, included the following: "At Sunset" by Sellers, "Song of Happiness" by Lemare, and "Evensong" by Johnson. The postlude was by Dunham.

"The Unfailing God" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Pacific Avenue Methodist church. Rev. H. C. Mulen took as his evening text: "The Unshakable Foundation."

LA CRESCENTA ENTERTAINS BAY CITY RELATIVES

Many Inquiries Coming in Daily From Persons
Seeking Homes

Mrs. Craig of Los Angeles avenue is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Vickery and family of San Francisco. Mr. Vickery is Mrs. Craig's brother and with his family is spending part of his vacation with his mother in Glendale. The Vickerys motored down to Los Angeles but will make the return trip by boat.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowden of Mayfield avenue will motor to San Diego this week for a short visit. Mr. Perkins of Honolulu avenue is improving so rapidly that he is now able to sit up and his family are looking forward to his home coming very soon.

The curbs are being put in on the Culberson tract and the lots will soon be on the market.

A number of La Crescentians motored to Los Angeles to visit Mrs. Harcourt and Mrs. Alma Austin, who have lately moved from here. The guests spent the evening in dancing, punch and a delightful supper being served late in the evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Swain of Sparr Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Hanson of La Crescenta and Mr. and Mrs. Vickery of San Francisco.

Mr. Romo, of Cline & Romo, realty brokers, has sold his home above Michigan and will immediately start construction on a new one. This will be situated on the Cline & Romo tract.

Building is Brisk
That La Crescenta is becoming widely known for climate, location, etc., is being proved daily to residents and real estate men alike, from the number of inquiries newcomers are making for lots, rentals and homes.

Building is going on at a brisk rate on the valley. Mrs. Burkey has been confined to her home for the past three days from an active attack of indigestion.

Mr. Craft has just completed his new home on Honolulu avenue and has wrecked the temporary house he had on the end of his lot, which Craft's grocery stands. This building has been moved to his new location and will, no doubt, be used for a garage.

Mrs. Smith, owner of the Mount, on Briggs avenue, is having her vacation at Redondo Beach.

BOOK FAST BOYS FOR ELKS BOUTS

Ten Main Eventers Will Box
At Thursday Smoker in Glendale Lodge

The second boxing card to be given by the Elks lodge in order to raise money for the band is scheduled for Thursday, July 12, according to an announcement and this show will bring to Glendale a bunch of headliners in the four-round game who will furnish an evening's entertainment for lovers of the ring game that has never been equaled here. Every boy on the bill ranks as a headliner in the various boxing clubs of the Southland, and Harry McCartney and Ray L. Galvin, chairmen of the Jinks committee, have only been able to secure them through their friendship with some of the biggest promoters of boxing bouts in and around Los Angeles and Vernon.

The list includes a bout between Joe Layman and Billy Kennedy, 128 pounders, and Layman will be remembered as one of the boys who appeared in the final bout at the last show here, boxing Kid Mack, who, on this occasion, is scheduled to mix it with Roy Sutherland, a capable 130 pound boy who has been showing up well in all of his recent bouts. Another boy who will draw on Thursday night is George Sirey, the mournful looking, lopsided youth who showed up so fast and flashy at the former bouts here and who will meet Young Sirey, 122 pounds. Another repeater on Thursday night will be Art Springer, who put up a slashing battle against Benny Marks at the last show.

Springer will meet Cupid Roth, whose ring tactics are said to belie his name and who is accounted one of the most capable boys, at his weight, 115 pounds, in the ring today.

One of Glendale's own mitt slingers is to be seen in action in the person of Bob Kelly, who will meet Jack Price at 138 pounds, and Harry McCartney, who will be the third man in the ring, predicts that this bout will be one of the best of the evening.

The members of the Elks lodge will be permitted to invite a number of guests to the show on Thursday night, which, in addition to the boxing bouts, will include a smoker and a feed provided by the Jinks committee, and it is the desire of the committee that all the members be on hand, as the plan to raise money for the band is one that deserves the ardent support of every member of the order.

Those who attended the first series of bouts given early in June know the class of entertainment that McCartney and Galvin have been booking for these shows, and it is certain that the big auditorium will be taxed to capacity on Thursday night when McCartney starts the first pair off at nine o'clock sharp.

READING CIRCLE METHODS SHOWN

Article by Mrs. A. A. Barton
Published in Official Organ of P.-T. A.

been selected by the chairman of current educational trend.

Works for Mothers
"The circle tries to keep its aim true, as a reading circle for mothers, and has not deviated from that path. Its work is recognized as the most successful one in the United States. The circle is very proud of the work done in Glendale, but happier, perhaps, in having been able to extend the idea of reading courses for parents in answer to the many inquiries which have come to it."

"Meetings were held at the home of Mrs. Toll for four years and since then in the young people's room of the Public Library, which is, of course, practically empty during school hours. The books of the two courses are on the library shelves and the heartiest co-operation is extended by the librarian and her assistants. The members of the circle are always glad to lend their assistance in any way and will give further information to help form new circles."

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, founder of the circle, is now preparing an article on the Reading Circle to be printed in the official organ of the Bureau of Education at Washington.

INVITES MAYORS OF VALLEY CITIES

Mayor Robinson to Reserve Space for Guests at Harding's Visit

In preparation for the visit of President Harding and his party to Glendale on Friday, August 3, Mayor Spencer Robinson is sending invitations to the mayors of every city in the San Fernando valley, asking that they and their official families be the guests of Glendale on that day, and the invitations also suggest that the visiting mayors place themselves in touch at once with Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, in order that they may have spaces reserved for themselves and their parties on the day of the president's visit. It is also suggested that they decorate the spaces thus reserved with the names of their respective towns, or in such other manner as may seem best to them. Arrangements have been made with the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to have the school children massed at the new high school on East Broadway at 10 a. m., and all the teachers in the local schools who are to be in Glendale on the date set for the president's visit have been asked to be present and aid in caring for the hundreds of boys and girls who will turn out to see the chief executive.

Get P. O. Band
Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson this morning informed Secretary E. F. Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce that he has received the assurance that the postoffice band of sixty pieces will be available to play here on August 3, and to escort the president and his party through the city. The postoffice band is composed of men from several of the offices in the district, including several from the Glendale office, and, while the headquarters of the organization is maintained in Los Angeles, the band plays in the various cities throughout this region as its services are required.

In a account of the press of his duties in connection with the Harding visit, Secretary Sanders has cancelled his reservations to attend the summer school of commercial secretaries at Palo Alto early in August.

BURBANK

CANDIDATES FOR BAND PLENTIFUL

Fifty-Piece Organization Is Aim of Promoters As Members Are Added

Burbank's municipal band is assuming the proportions promised by its organizers, over thirty-five musicians having signified their intention of becoming candidates for positions, it was disclosed at last Friday night's meeting of the executive committee, comprising E. J. Jackson, F. R. Lossee and H. S. White, together with others of the organization.

Those present were enthusiastic over the proposition and expressed their ambition to develop a fifty-piece band for the city, with women musicians as well as men. Judge Crawford and R. W. Colburn were appointed to act with the executive committee, which has under consideration place of meeting, methods of financing, preparation of rules and regulations and other matters.

Regarding finances, Judge Crawford pointed out that the state law allows cities to appropriate a limited amount of city funds for musician purposes. It is proposed to take up this matter with the city trustees, with the idea of gaining municipal furtherance of the project, those present being opposed to the usual method of supporting a band by subscription from business men.

Members themselves are expected to furnish their own instruments, it was disclosed. A salary will be paid the director and money will be needed to purchase music and care for other details.

Among those on the band list are: H. S. White, director; and E. J. Jackson, F. R. Lossee, Fred Mosley, O. W. Stumbo, R. Johnson, L. S. Thompson, R. M. Crawford, W. E. Fluke, Bert Dille, Rex Griswold, W. Fisk, Hale Kirkpatrick, Emil Groshong, Lloyd McKenzie, H. Williams, Fred Bradshaw, Homer Davis, E. L. Fischer, Ray Proctor, O. N. Thomas, R. W. Colburn, Richard Crawford, Rufus Malone, D. A. Connett, Dr. Ervin and Robert Short.

Change Route of Fourth
Fourth street, as it is proposed to connect it through Burbank and Glendale to Eagle Rock and thence to Pasadena, will follow a slightly different course than previously announced, states City Engineer Miller, owing to the fact that certain property owners along the way will not permit the thoroughfare through their property.

As now planned, Fourth street will be seventy feet wide from its westerly end at Amherst drive to Providencia avenue; from Providencia avenue to the city limits it will be forty feet wide, including a ten-foot parkway, on the north side of the Pacific Electric right-of-way; from the city limits through Glendale, the road will follow the car line to Grand View avenue, thence north to Sixth street; when Pacific drive is reached, the route will be over that thoroughfare to Burchett street, this change in plan being necessitated by reason of refusal of certain property owners at this point to yield ground. While some jeers in the road will result, it is felt that these will be only temporary, as those who will not now give a right of way will shortly find their land too valuable to hold in large tracts, when it will be subdivided and the right of way then yielded.

Libby Cannery Operating
With apricots at the height of the season and a heavy pack of peaches expected, the Libby, McNeil & Libby cannery is now in operation, under the general management of T. L. Updegraff. The plant had been thoroughly overhauled before opening and many additions have been made to facilitate handling the apricot, tomato and peach packs. For instance, a device has been installed so that fruit will be cut by machine instead of by knife, as heretofore, and electric motors now drive both the cutting and pitting machines.

Homicide Squad to Curb Murder Wave

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Police officers and county sheriffs recently formed city county homicide squad today were puffed with meritorious pride, for they realized they were picked for their recognized abilities.

The squad, which numbers approximately eighteen men, was organized to combat the increasing wave of murders which has swept over the city and county, as well as to establish co-operative and friendly relations between deputy sheriffs and police officers when working together on homicide cases.

Deputy District Attorney Keyes, who organized the squad, has charged the men in its ranks to exercise every effort to bring guilty persons to trial. Men from the squad will be detailed to attend every murder inquest, where they are expected to help in questioning witnesses.

"Ours Is a Business Built on Service"

—To deliver to you promptly the merchandise you want when you want it at a price you are willing to pay is the very minimum service a store may render. It is not our ideal of service—it is a conception of service that may win some customers, but our ambition is to make friends first and customers after. Service with us concerns itself with "PLUS SERVICE" in not only serving, but serving graciously—in making adjustments cheerfully, in viewing every accommodation we are able to render as an opportunity to strengthen the bond of friendship which years of courteous, square dealing have built up between this institution and its customers.

—SO, WHEN WE SAY:
"JULY SALES" it's a well known fact dependable merchandise has been reduced to the lowest possible price.

EAGLE ROCK

SEEK TO REMEDY CROWDED SCHOOL

Situation to Be Considered At Meeting Tonight In Brown's Office

Representatives of various local organizations, appointed to work with a view to remedying the school situation, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock, at the office of J. B. Brown & Co., 117 South Central avenue.

It had previously been decided to hold this meeting in the public library, but a change was made. An announcement had already gone out. It is hoped that a large representation will be present, as it is felt there is no problem concerning the future destinies of this section that is more important than the school problem.

With present schools crowded and the Glendale Union high school no longer available, it has become evident to educators that some action must be taken before the opening of the fall term.

It is to get the angles of various representative bodies that tonight's meeting has been called, as public opinion must be crystallized before action can be taken.

Club for Young Set
It has been proposed by members of the Women's Twentieth Century club, and sponsored by Mrs. A. G. Kelly, Mrs. Mary Fiske and others, that the clubhouse be thrown open to the boys and girls of Eagle Rock, in an effort to afford an amusement and recreation center which will tend to counteract the spread of the social evil.

A study of statistics, club members brought out, shows that this evil, and its influence upon school children, is appalling, a matter for action in every community in the United States, if we are to bring the present generation to normal, wholesome maturity.

Pupils in Dances
Miss Evelyn Thomas of 406 South Douglas avenue, a pupil of Isadora Duncan, who recently trained sixty children for the "End of the Rainbow" pageant at Elysian park, presented five of her pupils at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse the night of July 2. The dances included "Pipes of Pan," "Eclectic" and "Ave Maria."

while Miss Thomas rendered an original Indian dance. Those participating were Misses Clara Tracy, Bernice Strevig, Catherine Weil and Betty Beauchamp of Eagle Rock, and Miss Ellen Malory of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Putnam of 355 East Hill avenue have joined the artists' colony at Laguna Beach.

Misses Helen and Kathryn Longergan recently enjoyed a ten-day outing at Big Bear lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory of 324 Ridgeway avenue are spending a month at Sequoia camp.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Nesbit of 145 Eddy avenue are in Oakland, where they expect to remain until July 15. Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Hollywood are occupying their home in the interim.

Misses Kathryn and Lucille Bessolo of 155 Ellenwood drive are on a trip to the Yosemite valley.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Steele and son, Milton, of 19 Rowland avenue, left Saturday, July 7, for a week's camping trip at Ojai canyon.

Will Pick Veterans Land Colony Tract

SACRAMENTO, July 9.—The site for the veterans land colony will be selected by August 1, it was announced by Robert F. Smith, secretary of the Veterans Welfare Board.

Smith declared that the colony will be established on one of the seven tracts which are now being examined by land experts. A committee from the College of Agriculture of the University of California, headed by Dean Thomas F. Hunt, is now engaged in passing on the various tracts and the most suitable one will be determined by the process of elimination.

Thousands of California service men have made application for settlement rights in the new colony.

Dedication of Dam For Frisco's Water

GROVELAND, July 9.—With appropriate ceremonies Mayor James Rolph, Jr., on Saturday, dedicated O'Shaughnessy dam marking the successful completion of the city of San Francisco's Hetch-Hetchy water project. The great dam impounds 66,000,000,000 gallons of water and insures the Bay City an ample supply for future needs as well as providing a large quantity of electrical power. A large party of prominent persons were present at the dedication and inspected the entire project, work which began in 1915.

Bank Clearings for Sacramento Increase

SACRAMENTO, July 9.—Bank clearings of Sacramento for the first half of 1923 exceeded those of the same period last year by more than $20,000,000, making one of the greatest advances in business recorded in the history of the city.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Radio Bug Bites Mexico; Big Demand for "Sets." Tomorrow—The Chorus Girl Paradox; "Innocents Abroad" in New York.—By Jack Carberry, New York Correspondent.

By WEBB C. ARTZ.
For International News Service

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 9.—Radio "nuts" are rampant in Mexico, as in the United States. Despite a seemingly prohibitive tax of $6 a month on amateur sets, wholesale equipment houses here report they are selling equipment valued at $360,000 wholesale each month to firms beyond the Rio Grande. This does not take into consideration any sales except through this city.

The governor of Sonora recently said in San Antonio that baseball was taking the place of bullets in deciding Mexican elections. Further reports have it that the passion-rousing sport of bullfighting also is being replaced by concert broadcasting. Dwellers in the boulevard cafes, like those of France, talk no more of their favorite forefathers. Static and the programs of San Antonio, Kansas City, Davenport or elsewhere are now the base of conversation, according to returned visitors to the southern republic.

No longer do the cavaliers of the land of the Montezumas argue the respective merits of popular picadors. No, they now argue heatedly over whether the more expensive bulb sets are worth the difference in price over the "cat's whisker" variety. Rain that mud-dies the arena is not now as fervidly cursed as heat that joggles the ether waves.

The government has given recognition to the value of wireless in its recent letting of a contract to the Bravo Electric Company to equip the army for radio communication. Great sending stations are to be installed at the capital and at Vera Cruz, with power to cross the Atlantic. Five smaller stations will be set up for broadcasting in Mexico; and 200 airplane sets are provided for in the contract. The cost will be $250,000 American gold.

"Radiophans" from this country, traveling salesmen and others, who have carried portable sets beyond the border, are said to have had a large part in the development of the craze in Mexico. The policy of stations at Kansas City, Dallas, Fort Worth and here of sending out international programs—favorite Mexican airs in Spanish, by Latin performers—is said to be a great contributing element.

There are now ten broadcasting stations in Mexico, three of them in the capital. The number is increasing monthly—just as the distribution of American cartoons, American typewriters and many other things American. The Mexicans are finding out each day that things they like, and the nation itself is becoming more truly our "Sister Republic."

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

RADIOPHONE TRANSMITTER AND RECEIVER

Quite a number of fans have written in for data on a cheap transmitting radio set where parts of a receiving set could be utilized. The following description shows where all the parts of a simple audio receiving set may be used and, with the addition of a .001 variable condenser, microphone and additional plate voltage, a combination sending and receiving set may be made up. The transmitting set will not reach Mars to be sure but it will cover an average city, which is sufficient for your needs.

The drawing shows the complete wiring of this set. The tuning coil can either be a single slide tuning coil or a tapped inductance of about one hundred turns of number 28 copper wire, double cotton covered. In the case of a tapped coil, it should be tapped every 10 turns. The aerial is connected directly to the plate, the grid connection being taken from the bottom of the coil. The telephones are connected to the bottom of the coil and to the positive of the B battery, the negative of the B battery being grounded through the microphone. A variable condenser is shunted around the telephones and B battery. The grid leak should be variable and is connected from the grid to the negative side of the filament, which is grounded through the microphone. The plate battery should be at least one hundred volts, preferably more when used as a transmitter, while, when receiving, a variable clip will give you the best voltage for your particular tube. A hard tube should be used, as the ordinary detector tube will paralyze on this high voltage and become inoperative.

When using this set as a transmitter the telephones are worn and you can tell when it is properly adjusted by listening to your own voice.

This complete set can be mounted on a panel 12x12 inches containing the two variable condensers, rheostat and microphone. The latter can be the ordinary type, but the better make you can afford, the better will be the results. Before putting this transmitter into actual operation it would be well to keep in mind that it is absolutely necessary to have an amateur transmitting license before you can "go on the air." When an amateur license is obtained you will be assigned a wave length and you are only allowed to use the wave length given you.

Most of the squeals you hear are caused by your set when in an oscillating condition. The single circuit set will stand a better chance of getting a complete uninterrupted concert with the change in wave lengths. Most amplifying tubes will not handle a high plate battery unless a C battery is used.

Pointers
To those who prefer key pounding to voice, a key can be used by shunting it around the microphone. If this set is to be mounted on the 12x12 panel, the microphone should be mounted at the top center, the rheostat at the bottom center of the panel, one at the right and the other to the left. They are both of the same capacity and either can be used where the wiring is found to be most convenient.

Most of the squeals you hear are caused by your set when in an oscillating condition. The single circuit set will stand a better chance of getting a complete uninterrupted concert with the change in wave lengths. Most amplifying tubes will not handle a high plate battery unless a C battery is used.

"SOUTH LIKES AL SMITH, BUT ACTION ON ENFORCEMENT MEASURE PUTS HIM OUT," SAYS MCKELLAR

That Governor Al Smith of New York eliminated himself as a Democratic presidential possibility—as far as the South is concerned—when he signed the Culliver bill hitting at prohibition enforcement in New York state is the opinion of Senator McKellar, Democratic of Tennessee.

"Al Smith is greatly admired by Democrats in my home state," said the Senator recently, after meeting Smith for the first time, "but I am afraid he has eliminated himself as a possible candidate for the presidential nomination. He is liked down our way because he is thought to live up to the expectations of his constituents. But I do not think anybody but a pronounced 'dry' can win the place at the head of the ticket in the Democratic national convention next year."

"We regard Governor Smith's action in approving the Culliver Repeal bill in this light—that he made a promise to his constituents and decided that he must live up to it. We look upon his approval of the repeal as something he has been unfortunate about."

"This country," the senator replied, "is irrevocably dry, and the south in particular feels very strongly on the subject. Al Smith's championship of the traditional Democratic doctrine of state's rights undoubtedly has made an appeal in the south, but not enough to overcome the wetness with which, through his action on the repeal bill, he stands associated in the mind of southern Democrats.

Sees No Hope for a Wet
"But how about Governor Smith's suggestion that, with a view to making its enforcement possible, the Volstead act should be modified to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer and, under proper restriction and after approval by a state-wide referendum, isn't that likely to become an issue in the national campaign next year?" was asked.

"No, I am sure it will not," the senator replied. There is absolutely no hope for a wet or even moist candidate in the Democratic national convention next year. Both parties will write dry planks into their platforms unless they should decide to omit any mention of the subject."

"Sentiment has not crystallized in favor of any of the various candidates mentioned as possibilities in next year's contest, according to the senator.

"McAdoo," he said, "has a world of friends, and Senator Underwood has many friends in Tennessee, too."

"In a fight between McAdoo and Underwood for the Tennessee delegation, who, in your opinion, would come out with the victory?" the senator was asked.

"I never looked upon it in that light," he replied. "It is too early to say who will get the Democratic delegation from Tennessee. The national conventions are almost a year off, and much can happen in the intervening months to change the situation. Should Senator Underwood be associated in the public mind with the wet-it would be hopeless for him to contend for delegates in Tennessee, greatly as we admire him in my state."

Says Relation Is Well Liked

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND WOODY CHUCK

There was a rustling sound in the bushes—a thrilling scurrying noise—the rabbit leaves, and Uncle Wiggily, who was hopping through the forest, quickly hid himself behind a stump.

"This sounds like the Fuzzy Fox coming after me," thought the rabbit gentleman to himself. But when he had been hiding behind the stump for about a minute, and no Fox was to be seen, Mr. Longears looked out. He saw Woody Chuck, the groundhog boy, slinking along.

"Hello, Woody!" called the rabbit gentleman, jumping out from behind the stump. "Oh, my goodness!" shouted Woody, and he was going to run away and hide, when he saw Uncle Wiggily and was no longer afraid.

"Did you think I was the Wolf?" laughed the bunny. "The Wolf or Fox—I wasn't just sure which one," answered the little groundhog boy. "They have both been after me."

"Look here!" cried Uncle Wiggily quickly, "do you mean to tell me that the Fox and Wolf are around here? Did they make that scurrying, scurrying in the dried leaves just now?"

"No, I made that noise," answered Woody. "I made that noise when I ran to get away from the Fox and Wolf. They're always grabbing after my tail, those bad chaps are."

"How did you get away?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he gave his pink nose a little twinkle. "I dug a hole and slipped down in it," answered Woody. "But the tip of my tail stuck out, and the Fox pulled that. Only he didn't pull my tail off, and I'm glad of it."

"I'm glad, also," spoke Uncle Wiggily. "But, Woody, if the Wolf and Fox just chased you, they may be slinking along even now and perhaps—"

"There's the Wolf now!" suddenly cried the groundhog, or woodchuck, boy. "Dig yourself a hole, Uncle Wiggily." And with that, Woody Chuck began to make for himself a hole in the earth where he might hide.

The rabbit gentleman caught a peep of the nose of the Fox poking its way through the bushes, but instead of digging a hole Uncle Wiggily hid himself in the hollow stump.

Up came the hungry Fox. He did not see Uncle Wiggily, but he saw the tip of Woody's tail sticking up from the hole that the groundhog boy had dug for himself.

"Oh, I'll pull that woodchuck out!" howled the Fox. But just as he was reaching for Woody's tail, the groundhog boy dug himself further into the earth, and there was none of his tail left sticking out for the Fox to get hold of.

"Fooled again!" howled the Fox. "That's what I want it to look like," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "Now we shall hide where we can see what happens and watch."

So they hid in the bushes, and pretty soon along came the Fox. "Hah!" Here's that groundhog boy's tail sticking out of the hole he's in!" snickered the Fox. "I'll pull him out this time." He took hold of the buried dusting brush, thinking it was Woody's tail. The Fox pulled and pulled, and pulled, but he couldn't pull up the ant-horned dusting brush, and at last he became so angry that he cried:

"Oh, keep your old tail. I don't want it anyhow." And away he trotted through the woods, while Uncle Wiggily and Woody laughed "Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho!"

So everything came out all right, you see, and the dusting brush wasn't harmed in the least, except a few hairs were pulled out. And if the teaspoon doesn't forget its umbrella when it goes swimming in the bread and milk, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and his firecrackers—a sort of Fourth of July story.

BILLY WHISKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

"Stubby," exclaimed Billy in an abrupt manner after Stubby had told him the story, "where did you leave Button?"

"In the courtyard of the beautiful lady's palace. He was to see how they ran things in the culinary department while I was to see how they lived in the other part of the palace. After this we were to meet in the courtyard and then go to join you at the yellow castle that juts out into the bay. But I did not get a chance to go back to the courtyard on time, so I suppose Button has gone on ahead of us. He was to wait for me a short time and then if I did not come, he would go on, knowing something had prevented my coming."

"If I did not turn up at the appointed place, he would come back and prowl around to let me know he was looking for me, and I would bark back if I was there."

"What do you say," said Billy "to our going back by the place to see if he is not watching for you? If not, we can go on and if he is, we can all go along together."

"A very good suggestion," replied Stubby. "But first and before I take another step I want you to help me get this ribbon off my neck. Here, Billy, you take hold of one end and pull once. That will make the loops that are sticking up come out."

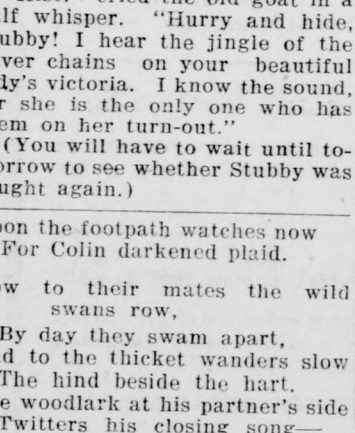

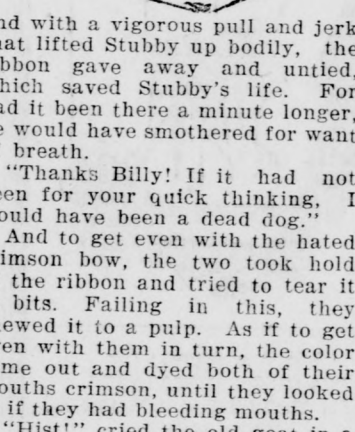

So Billy took one end of the ribbon in his mouth and Stubby walked off a short distance, and the hated loops came out.

"Now pull hard and see if the knot that fastens it around my neck won't come loose."

They pulled and pulled, but it would not untie.

"Take the other end and try it," said Stubby.

Billy obeyed, and joy! it began to move, but at first it did not tighten, not looser, which nearly choked Stubby, and he began to

LOCALS PROTEST RESULT OF GAME

Glendale Loses and Objects
To 'Moose' Trautwein's
Being on Mound

Glendale lost to Lankershim yesterday afternoon by the closest margin, coming out on the little end of a 2 to 1 score, in a hotly contested baseball battle that, if allowed, will definitely put this city's nine out of pennant reach.

The game was played on the home grounds at Park avenue and San Fernando road, before a record crowd of about 2000 fans, and was Glendale's last game of the San Fernando Valley league season.

Manager Walt Heidler of the locals feels that the game may not be allowed by the Managers' association, as Lankershim violated one of the rules of the league when they put in "Moose" Trautwein, the big south-paw hurler of the Vernon club, as their moundman.

The rule referred to reads that no player is eligible to play in any game if he has not played in at least two games before the last three scheduled games.

Manager Walt Heidler hopes to have this matter settled at tonight's meeting of the association, at the Dyas "Log Cabin" in Los Angeles, when Judge Paul J. McCormick, president of the body, will preside.

Siki Now Seeking Bout With Champ

PARIS, July 9.—A changed Siki—one who has foregone wine, women and song and the indoor sport of beating up waiters in Montmartre cafes—is heading toward America to take the crown from one Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey, manager of the savage Senegalese, is the authority for this optimistic statement. "Siki and I will leave for America the end of this week," said Dempsey.

Siki arose today in a happy mood after yesterday's two round victory over Marcel Nills, the former heavyweight champion of France, and looked about for new worlds to conquer.

"I foresaw this victory over Nills," Dempsey said, "and called Tex Rickard in New York Friday, asking him to arrange a fight with Dempsey."

Siki trained faithfully for his bout with Nills, his manager said. He abandoned his usual routine of mixing strong drink with bouts with waiters in Paris cafes. He trained at a small village far from the lights of Paris.

It took Georges Carpentier eight rounds to stop Nills several weeks ago. Now the French boxing federation demands that Siki and Carpentier meet again for the French heavyweight title held by Siki. The federation demands that the contract be signed before next Sunday.

Dempsey said Siki also wants to fight Mike McGuire, the Irish boxer who defeated Siki in Dublin.

Although outpointed in the first round of yesterday's fight, Siki succeeded in landing one terrific right swing to the body. He landed another in the second round and Nills went down. He came up wobbly but two more terrific wallop to the jaw put him down for the count.

His suspension lifted, Charley Robertson was chosen to oppose Walter Johnson and he produced finely, the White Sox trimming Washington, 4 to 2.

Vernon Club to Drop Veterans, Is Report

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—On arrival here Wednesday of the Vernon club, local ball fans expected to have confirmed a report that four veteran players are to be lopped off. The men mentioned are "Red" Smith, third baseman; "Wheeler" Dell, veteran pitcher; "Ping" Bodie, outfielder, and Dallas Locker, first baseman.

Ehmke's Pitching Raises Query

In view of the fact that Howard Ehmke is a Glendale boy, having attended the Glendale Union high school, where he pitched for the baseball team, the following stories will prove of more than usual interest to local readers.

He Makes Managers Sick When They Let Go of Glendale 'Phenom'

By JACK KEENE

What caused Howard Ehmke to be a losing, ragged working pitcher in Detroit?

While you're sitting on the front porch o' nights watching the golf bugs hustle home to late suppers and peevish wives, figure it out.

We give it up. But there must have been something besides the atmosphere and the Ford in Detroit which perturbed this lanky pitcher with the Egyptian style of delivery.

Cobb traded Ehmke for an in and out—"Rip" Collins. Was glad to make the trade. No mention was made that Ehmke was out of condition or the carrier of a lame arm. Cobb just let him go.

To date Ehmke, for the shattered and still unorganized Red Sox, has won more than two-thirds of his games—has made every team in the league like his stuff.

Ehmke has no need to discuss the past. His pitching says a mouthful. Cobb is silent. Has enough on his mind without recalling this affair.

Broke Even Last Year

In Mr. Ehmke's behalf let it be stated right here that he gave as much as he took last year. He won seventeen while losing that many for Cobb—arguments or no arguments. This makes Cobb's decision that he wasn't needed look like a bum bet. Those seventeen victories were as many as any he had ever hung up for the Bengals. Under Hughey Jennings, noted weak sister in handling pitchers, Ehmke won seventeen in 1919, the year he hung up his best average. He lost but ten games that year—striking an average of .630.

It took Ehmke just two years to break into the majors after he made his debut with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast league in 1914. But those two years were hectic ones. He shifted about as much as a jewelry auction gang at Christmas time.

He won twelve and lost eleven games for the Coast leaguers that year and the Washington Senators promptly mailed the Coast-ers a check for $7500 for him. He failed to observe the reserve rule, however, and cast his lot with the Federal league.

When the war ended and the two factions laid down their arms, pitching and otherwise, the Washington club decided that it had had enough trouble with Howard and ignored the chance to claim him. So he went back to the Angels.

Gets His Revenge

He failed to get going and they gave him the bounce. Whereupon the Syracuse team in the New York state league signed him and he proceeded to make the Los Angeles owners and fans real mournful like by winning twenty-one and losing seven games. He allowed just 1.84 runs a game.

The Tigers bought him August 15, 1916, for $3000 and players and he won three and lost one game before the season ended. And in the next five years he won seventy-two games and lost just two more—seventy-four.

Ehmke has had the reputation of being a wild man, one of the wildest in the league. But he never has been accused of exhibiting that wildness off the field.

His wildness consists of remarkable performances, such as making a home run in the final inning when there is danger of defeat.

Wild as he is on the field, there are fourteen managers in the big show who would take a chance on him throwing a couple of $2.50 baseballs over the grandstand now and then if they could grab him off.

'Greatest Pitcher' Cause of Big Row Between Two Classes in School

By GIL A. COWAN

It is amusing to read articles by various sporting experts relative to Howard Ehmke, the Glendale high school pitcher, who is the "phenom" of the big leagues.

Frank L. Chance, manager of the Boston Red Sox, only recently has said Ehmke is the greatest pitcher in baseball today.

We believe it for it was this writer who first spread his fame when he won eighteen games straight in high school competition here. That was in 1914 and what a row there was when the seniors introduced Ehmke as their pitcher in the inter-class games.

Frank Ehmke, his brother, had been employed as athletic coach, coming from the east with his mother, also Howard and John Ehmke, the latter two entering high school. In the back of Howard's history book I dug up his pitching record in a military academy in the east.

How He Won Attention

And then the fun began. Ehmke was a special student endeavoring to complete his senior work. He was carrying six or seven major subjects in addition to pitching ball almost daily. Inasmuch as he lacked the credits to qualify as a senior and also because of the fact that Hastings Bidwell, varsity pitcher, was ruled off the junior team in interclass games, I wrote a note for which I was duly choked, chased and chastised by the seniors.

Incidentally, I printed Ehmke's pitching record for the academy which he attended and claimed that he, too, was a varsity man. The seniors continued to play him and won all games, the fall fates Gabaig being unable to lead the juniors to victory.

A Los Angeles paper asked me to write a story of Ehmke's pitching. That got him more publicity and a few days later both the Tigers and Angels were angling for his services.

With much misgiving Howard left high school and immediately made a name for himself in the big leagues. While the family resided here he returned to Glendale for the winters, working in a Los Angeles jewelry store.

Ehmke had a delivery like the postoffice, sometimes special, but usually slow and the fall fades over the pan in a way that even the best of them could not fathom. By stepping into some of his slow ones batters are able to connect for a safety and this has caused a lot of trouble.

Plays Clean Ball

Ty Cobb, manager of Detroit Tigers, is said to have instructed Ehmke to "bean" any eager batter who stepped into his stuff. This Howard refused to do and when the Georgia peach proceeded to tell him what he thought, Ehmke went into the sulks and rested on his laurels honestly earned.

As a result he is now playing with the Red Sox in the Penn burg of Boston, making all of his former managers wish they had him on their string and giving the best possible support to Chance who first saw his possibilities while playing with the Angels.

Ehmke left alone is a regular war horse, winning his own games, for he can bat as well as pitch and knows how to connect with almost any kind of a ball. He is notably a clean athlete, it being impossible for him to play in an unsportsmanlike manner.

Manager Chance has only one criticism of his protégé and star pitcher: he wants to work in every game or sit with Frank and talk about California. Both of them claim the southland as their home.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

No man interested in boxing would have dreamed of classifying Gibbons with such men as Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries or Johnson, and so it would be interesting today to know just what stand those persons take who have been saying that Dempsey was the greatest heavyweight of all times; and there have been not a few who have let their imagination run riot to this extent.

After all, was the result of the Shelby battle the surprise it was purported to be? Of course the surprise lies in the fact that Gibbons was able to stay out for the full fifteen rounds. On the other hand, the majority of critics have freely expressed the opinion that Dempsey has "gone back." The main question now seems to be how much of the result of the Shelby fight was due to the retrograding of Dempsey and what proportion must be ascribed to the cleverness and ring knowledge of Gibbons?

It is an interesting question and one that never will be satisfactorily answered for the reason that both sides have about an equal number of proponents, although the great majority of critics are free to admit that the Dempsey of today is not the same Dempsey that fought Jess Willard at Toledo.

The result of the Shelby battle has done this: It has made a real contest of the proposed Firpo-

Dempsey battle—providing, of course, that Firpo is able to dispose of Jess Willard. Dempsey no longer, under any circumstances, will be regarded as invincible as he has been up to date. The Gibbons battle showed conclusively that a big, strong youngster who is able to stand the gaff also stands a mighty good chance to take the title away from the champion.

Certainly Dempsey has nothing to feel confident about, and the chances are that from now on he will do considerable worrying before his future battles, for he must be aware of the decline in his star. If he does not, he must have even more hammer headed than we have accused him of being in the past. Dempsey never was a popular champion. In fact, it is likely that he is the most looked down on of all of them owing to his lack of a war record, and literally tens of thousands of persons in the United States would be tickled pink to see him deposed from his pugilistic throne.

Giving Gibbons all the credit that is due him for staying the fifteen rounds, the fact still obtrudes itself that this fight is really the first tangible evidence that Dempsey's star is on the wane. Of course, he may win some more battles because the heavyweights are a poor lot, but Dempsey has gone over the top and is walking downwards.

With a view to ascertaining the number of persons who congregated in the Shelby arena to witness the Dempsey-Gibbons battle, we read a number of stories. Here are the estimated audiences, and we admit that there is a bare chance that the right figure has been mentioned:

|--------------|--------|
| First writer | 6,500 |
| Second ditto | 7,500 |
| Third ditto | 10,000 |
| Fourth ditto | 12,500 |
| Fifth ditto | 20,000 |
| Sixth ditto | 20,000 |

It is admitted that it takes some experience to estimate a crowd, and the novice who tries it will be surprised to find how far out of the way he can get. The inference is that among those present to cover the fight there were a number of men who were breaking into the game of reporting big affairs.

With the disastrous result to certain citizens of Shelby, Mont., in the financial way on account of the mismanagement of the fight, it is likely that folks will be a little more careful how they throw quarter of a million dollar offers to pugilists and their managers. If this serves as a lesson to discourage the prevailing high prices being offered, the loss will have been worth while, although we doubt that the parties directly interested will agree with the opinion.

If reports of the fight are any indication, we would say that the Gibbons-Dempsey motion pictures are likely to fall as disastrously financially as the fight itself. With Gibbons hanging on in the clinches for dear life and the referee working harder than either of the fighters in an effort to separate them, the pictures give absolutely no promise of action, the most essential factor in an entertainment of this kind.

Shelby will be well supplied with kindling for some time to come. When the arena, all the hotels, rooming houses, stores, booths, cafes, restaurants and other wooden edifices erected for the accommodation of the fight "crowd" are chopped up, it ought to make a respectable pile. From now on we presume there will be no further mention of Shelby in the newspapers. Did it pay to advertise in the way the Shelbyites tried out? We assume the mayor of that berg wouldn't try it again, and they do say the proof of the pudding is in the eating thereof.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS

Art Nehf, star southpaw pitcher of the world champion Giants, is one of the best piano players on the big league circuit. Nehf, his teammates declare, nearly became a church organist, according to his mother's wish.

Members of the Baseball Writers' association, composed of reporters who cover baseball in the major leagues, see possibilities of a championship contest between the writers and players. "Chick" MacLean, a western scribe, is an ex-organist. The reporters are urging a meeting between Nehf and Mac, "King" Lear, former Chicago Cub pitcher, now on the Pacific coast, is another pianist who deserted a musical upbringing.

The report in Washington is that the Giants are going to get Catcher Patsy Flanagan of the Georgetown University nine. Florence is a Chicago lad, youngest of a family of thirteen and all ball players, even the girls. He is two inches over the six-foot mark, tips the beam at 185 pounds and has an arm like a bit of iron. He simply loafs them down to second, while he knows what it's all about and has done brilliant work handling the Hilltoppers' pitchers. He played centerfield last year and it was only a toss for him to get the ball from the fence to the plate. Coach O'Reilly this year has developed him into a receiver of great possibilities and there is not much doubt but what he will make good under the big tent. He is a slugger of the home run type and a very dangerous man in a pinch.

How many young ball players, discouraged with that first release slip, have turned to other lines of occupation?

Had William E. Kamm accepted the tip from Bill Rodgers in the spring of 1918, he would never have become the "100,000 prize from the minors."

For Willie Kamm, in his professional debut, had been fired. He had been called a misfit after a week's trial with the Sacramento club, but he was determined that baseball was going to be his profession and back he went to the corner lots and semi-pro field of his home town—San Francisco.

At the age of 18 Kamm was re-

AWARD SCHOOL WORK CONTRACTS

J. H. Weller of Los Angeles Is Low Bidder; Plans Cut To Meet Purse

The contract for the next unit of the Tujunga Grammar school was awarded to J. H. Weller of Los Angeles. The plumbing contract was given to the Johnson Plumbing and Heating company, and J. E. Peterson of Burbank received the electrical wiring contract. All painting bids were rejected and new bids will be asked for on a basis of a priming coat only.

Work to be done under this contract will not complete the building but will leave it in condition to be used. The contract calls for an auditorium with a seating capacity of 600 and a wing extending along the east side of the school grounds containing four class rooms.

It took a three-hour session of pruning on the part of the school trustees, the architect and the contractors to bring the total cost of this unfinished unit within the limit of the funds available, which is approximately $40,000. $38,000 of which was raised by the bond issue. The balance represents a saving made by the trustees, carried over from last year. The total cost of the contracts let will be $37,710.37, which is $200 less than the total amount of available funds.

Cut Specifications
As it was necessary to cut the specifications wherever possible, without lessening the permanent value of the building, the main walls of both the auditorium and the class rooms will be left unplastered. As these walls are to be of hollow concrete poured in metal forms, they will be as warm, dry and sanitary in every way as though fully finished, and reasonably smooth.

The auditorium will be carried only to the proscenium arch for the present. A temporary stage will be built, which may be made permanent later, with an attendant raising of the seating capacity on the main floor to 850. Provision is being made for the construction of a balcony to seat up to 250 more whenever the additional room is required.

The electrical work will be done in conduits and the plumbing will be of high standard, in accordance with the plan pursued in building the first unit, which had been in use for several weeks at the close of the term. The work will be left in a condition to use comfortably and at the same time easily continued when the district secures the necessary funds.

Ten Rooms to Be Used
This will give two class rooms completely finished in the first unit already finished, three class rooms in the new unit to be built at once, finished to a point where they may be used comfortably and efficiently, and one room not to be used as a class room at present, but in condition to be made ready on short notice and at but little additional cost. With two rooms in the old building and the three bungalow class rooms this will give the school ten class rooms available for immediate use, which should take care of the immediate needs and still leave some room for increased scholarship, including the kindergarten, to be inaugurated in this school this year.

Bids as submitted to the board of trustees were as follows:

Shipments of Lumber To Glendale Heavy

C. L. Thedaker, agent for the Southern Pacific here, reports that monthly lumber receipts for Glendale building average about 150 cars. The Bentley Lumber Company, the Independent Lumber Company and the Glendale Lumber Company receive the large part of the consignments. One car of lumber for the new Southern Pacific station has been received already this month, Mr. Thedaker reports.

LOSES SUITCASE

The loss of a wicker suitcase from the running board of his automobile yesterday morning on San Fernando road was reported yesterday to the police department. It was the property of F. S. Hammond, of 1258 Lexington street, Pasadena, and contained a white silk cape, valued at $40, and a pink dress. Mr. Hammond added that his telephone number is Fair Oaks 4369.

REGAINS HEALTH

Recovery from lockjaw enabled John R. Patterson to leave the Glendale Research Hospital Saturday. He is a son of F. W. Patterson, of 1027 Avenue Forty-Six, Eagle Rock.

SUNLAND

OLIVE CANNERS ON 3-DAY PICNIC

Employees of A. Adams' Plant at Sunland Enjoy Beach Outing

The Sunland Ripe Olive Cannery company held the annual picnic for the employees at Hueneme this year, three miles from Oxnard. Forty-five employees enjoyed the three-day outing.

The cannery company, of which M. A. Adams, Jr., is head, gives a picnic for the employees at the close of each canning season, and the one just enjoyed was undoubtedly the biggest success of all, according to those who attended. The canning season at this plant is now over, and this year's output established a record of 30,000 cases, triple the output of last year, and equal to any three previous years' output in the plant's history.

Employs Many People

The ripe olive cannery is the largest single factor in the industrial life of the valley, employing approximately twenty-five women as graders, or sorters, and up to forty men in different capacities. The business has been built from a very small beginning and is steadily growing.

Among other shipments this year were three carloads of canned ripe apricots to Liverpool, England.

Plan Shade Trees

The Monte Vista Valley Improvement league has appointed a committee, headed by George Shoffer, to co-operate with a committee from the Sunland Chamber of Commerce in an endeavor to consummate their plans for planting ornamental trees along the highway.

The necessary permission of the highway commission will be secured and the league will then start a move to get the property owners to plant the trees.

The last meeting of the league for this season was held at Mr. Shaffer's, and adjournment was taken until the first Friday in October, or to the call of the president in the event of important business that demands the attention of the organization. G. W.

HOLLYWOOD BOWL CONCERTS READY

Open Tomorrow Evening at 8:15 for Music Lovers In This Vicinity

Under the conductorship of Emil Oberhoffer, the rehearsals for the Hollywood bowl summer concert are going on daily, the opening concert to be given Tuesday evening, July 10, at 8:15 o'clock.

The orchestra which numbers ninety picked artists, each being an expert on his instrument, and responding to the efficient baton of Maestro Oberhoffer with enthusiasm, displays a keen interest in the development of the organization. From the big demand for boxes and season tickets coming in from the cities and towns adjacent to Hollywood, the concert promise to be an immense success both from a musical standpoint and financially.

Interspersed through the various programs will be many numbers new to audiences in this community, but the old-time favorites so dear to the hearts of music lovers have not been overlooked and will be included among them being one or two of Strauss' "Overture from William Tell, Rossini: March and Overture from Tannhauser, Wagner: Tchaikovsky's Andante Cantabile; Prelude and Love Death from Tristan and Isolde; Air on the G. String by Bach and many others.

The soloist chosen for the program Thursday evening is Alfred Mirovitch, Russian pianist, who recently returned from a tour of the Orient.

STUDENT PREACHES

Harold Shaffer of Mt. Washington, a divinity student at Occidental College, occupied the pulpit yesterday at both services of The Tropic Presbyterian church. Butts having resigned as president, A. D. Kirschman is acting as chief executive.

BAND TO ATTEND ELKS CONVENTION

Message From Past Ruler to Be Read to Members at Tonight's Meeting

Glendale Elks are planning for sending a big delegation and the lodge band to the state convention at Eureka, September 18-21. Anticipation of this event is being voiced at every lodge meeting, and tonight final plans will be made for the big athletic program, to be given Thursday night, to raise funds for financing the band's trip in September.

With many of the lodge members out of town on vacations, the meeting tonight will not be a feature one, but routine business is to be transacted and a message read from Past Exalted Ruler Arthur H. Dibbern, who is now attending the national convention at Atlanta, Ga.
